ACHS to drop all student activities

by THOMAS STEVENS
Lakeland Newspapers

In what could be the toughest decision ever made in Antioch Community High School District 117 history, the school's board of education pledged to balance the 1993-94 budget, which will mean the elimination of several teachers and all student activities if the educational fund referendum is not passed in April.

According to Superintendent Dr. Robert Schley, the school faces an additional $1.5 million deficit next year and to balance the budget, the school will have to eliminate 9.3 teachers and all student activities like athletics, music, band and student government. The education fund is already $2 million in debt and several community groups, like the Better Education-Sensible Taxes group, have blasted the board for its deficit spending habits of the past.

"There is nothing more serious to a board of education or to an administrator than eliminating teachers and programs," said Schley. "But, we face some very lean times if the education referendum fails to pass."

The slap of reality that several hundred parents and ACHS students didn't want to hear took place at the board's March 18 meeting when Schley revealed his budget reduction plan.

Student interest grows as cuts could ax activities

Lakeland Newspapers

Armed with youth and anger about their future on their side, concerned students of Antioch began to protest the Antioch Community High School Board of Education's plan to eliminate all student activities for 1993-94.

Students at ACHS have become more visible lately at school board meetings and plan to make a difference in the decision about student activity cuts.

After receiving information first hand from school board members at three special sessions designed to give all of the school's more than 1,700 students the opportunity to ask questions, students were planning several 60's style sit-ins and protests in front of the school. (Continued on page 9)

Antioch native named Coast Guardsman of the Year

Antioch native Kenneth White, stationed aboard the cutter Storis in Alaska, was named the Coast Guardsman of the Year for his work as a damage controlman first class.

White, a 1965 graduate of Antioch Community High School, said the award is the most significant honor of his life. "It caught me completely by surprise," said White.

As a damage controlman first class, White is responsible for maintaining the oldest ship in the Coast Guard's inventory.

White's mother, Shirley, now a Park City resident, said she is proud of the accomplishments of her Coast Guardsman.

"I'm really proud of him," said White. "This is quite an honor for him."

Antioch police officer acquitted

by THOMAS STEVENS

A trial stemming from a 1986 arrest of an Antioch woman resulted in a positive verdict for an Antioch policeman accused of illegally searching and using excessive force on her.

Antioch police officer Burt Metz was acquitted in 33 minutes by a jury in Judge Rebecca Palmeyer's court on March 18.

"It was a ridiculous suit," said Antioch Police Chief Charles Miller. "I hope this sends a message to other people who think that they can just file suit hoping our insurance company will settle out of (Continued on page 9)

Dist. 187: We will dissolve

Board now awaits 'challenges' from other districts

by DAN BECKER
Lakeland Newspapers

In an attempt to provide a quality education for its students, North Chicago School Dist. 187 board members approved a resolution to dissolve the financially-troubled district.

According to the board, massive cuts implemented last year, further cuts expected next year and a lack of funding from the U.S. Dept. of Education prompted the dissolution.

"We want to give our students the best education possible; we cannot do that because of a lack of money. The state wants us to cut 50 staff members. If we do that, we cannot provide our children with a good education," said School Board President Pam Johnson.

Once the school district files the petition of dissolution with the Regional Board of School Trustees, the waiting game will begin.

Surrounding school districts are already preparing for a legal battle, which could last three years.

"We may not have the money for a legal battle," said Dist. 187 Supt. Dr. John Simpson. "When we're out of money, we're out of money."

If courts force the district to continue operating, Simpson believes the Dist. 187 could open next year.

"However, we might run out of money and have to close in October, November or December. It's a tough call. We might not be able to meet summer payroll in June of this year."

Simpson is not aware of any legal action filed as yet, but is expecting a flourish soon.

"We made a difficult decision. We felt compelled that it was the best thing for North Chicago students," Johnson said.

If the dissolution is approved by the regional school board and there are no challenges to the petition, the 4,300 North Chicago students will be disbursed as follows:

To Woodland Elementary School Dist. 50: 1,600 students from North, Novak King, Hart, and Lindberg. Woodland School Dist. will also take control of the buildings.

To Oak Grove Elementary School Dist. 68: 1,300 students from Forrestal, Green Bay and Katzenmaier schools. Oak Grove School Dist. will also take control of the buildings.

To Lake Bluff Elementary School Dist. 65: 600 students from Yeager, South and Neal schools. Lake Bluff School District will also take control of the buildings.

To Libertyville High School Dist. 128: 625 students and the North Chicago Community High School building.

To Lake Forest High School Dist. 115: 225 students from North Chicago Community High School.

Dist. 128, 68 angry with decision

Lakeland Newspapers

With North Chicago's decision to dissolve, contiguous districts are expressing anger and disappointment. But the disappointment comes with the state and federal government.

"It is a business decision on North Chicago's part," said Dist. 128

Superintendent Dr. Donald Gossett. "And we think it's a sad day in education if we allow the federal government and state of Illinois not to live up to their end."

Should the Regional Board of School Trustees approve North Chicago School Dist. 187's petition for dissolution, Libertyville High School will receive 625 students, plus the North Chicago High School building. Though receiving the building could help alleviate Libertyville's space problem, Gossett said North Chicago's financial difficulty has not been solved.

The problem has merely been shifted.

"Moving the problem from one district to another doesn't solve the problem," Gossett said. "And we don't believe that is right."

Dist. 68 Superintendent Patrick Patt agreed, saying he hopes that continued efforts will bring in finances a before it is too late.

"It's a shame that it has come to this," he said. "All anybody is asking is that they (federal and state government) take responsibility."

Dist. 68 will receive 1300 students and three elementary buildings if the petition for dissolution is approved.

Dist. 50 to seek legal action against Dist. 187 dissolution

With the North Chicago Dist. 187 school board's decision to file a petition of dissolution with the regional superintendent board of trustee's office, tempers are beginning to flare.

At Woodland School Dist. 50, board member Alan Mann believes the students were "used" by Dist. 187.

Alan Mann
Dist. 50 School Board Member

"The North Chicago School Board used its students as pawns in a very undisguised attempt to blame everyone else but themselves for their dire financial condition."

"By recommending that almost half their students be sent to the Woodland School Dist., the Dist. 187 board ignored the reality that their dissolution does not create more money or less students," Mann said.

By choosing Woodland, he added, Dist. 187 chose a district which has less than one city block contiguous with them, but has noticeable less political clout and money with which to oppose the move than other neighboring districts.

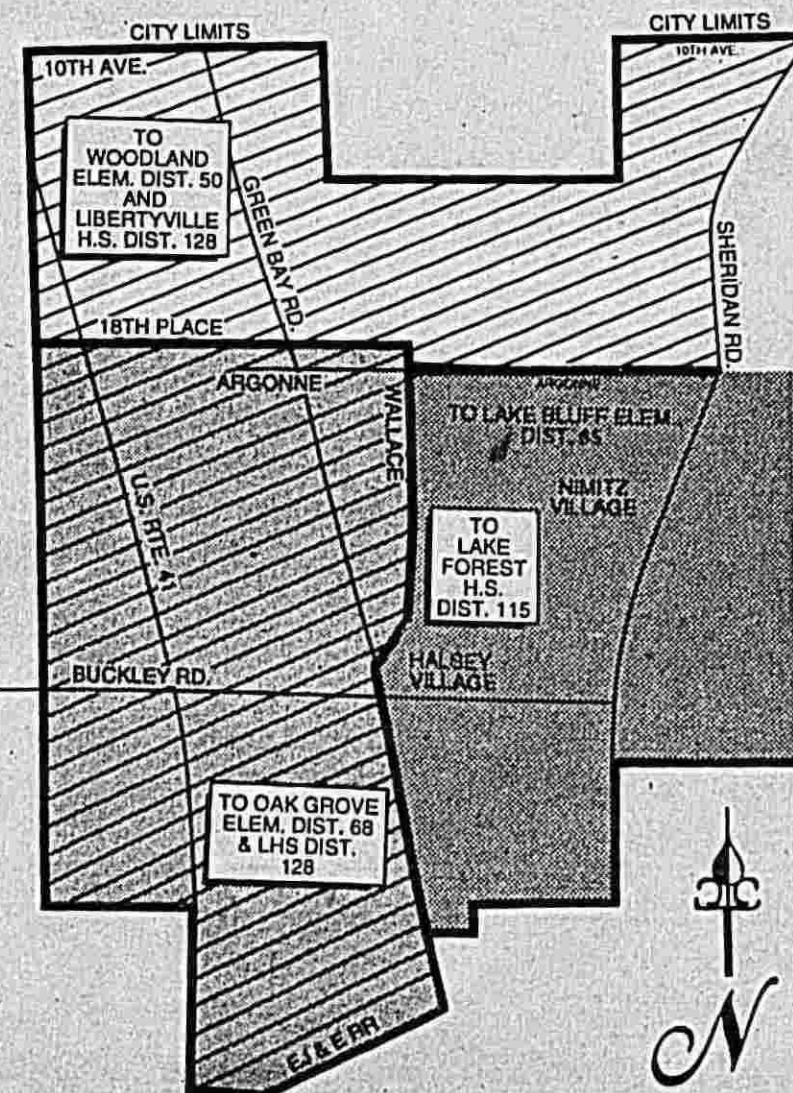

"All the students in North Chicago deserve an education — not political brinkmanship and showmanship. What their board did to the children, in the name of children, was unforgivable."

Woodland Supt. Dennis Conti took a more conservative view and said that the district will do everything in its power in order to support the best interests of its students.

"As it stands now, we really got a lion's share of the students. We expected to get some students, but not 1,600," he said.

Dist. 50 is expected to reach capacity levels by 1995. The district added nearly 50 classrooms last year.

"We expect to take some type of legal action if we actually receive that many students. We aim to share the legal expenditures with other school districts who are opposing this dissolution," Conti said.

North Chicago board approves dissolution

NORTH CHICAGO — In an attempt to provide a quality education for its students, North Chicago School Dist. 187 board members approved a resolution to dissolve the financially-troubled district. According to the board, massive cuts implemented last year, further cuts expected next year and a lack of funding from the U.S. Dept. of Education prompted the dissolution.

Kildeer annexation vote targeted April 5

KILDEER—The Kildeer Village Board concluded public hearings on the annexation of a 45.4-acre site on Rand and Cuba Roads for the development of a Target Greatland Store by requesting the village attorney draw up the annexation documents for the April 5 meeting. The annexation vote will likely set up a lawsuit between Kildeer and neighboring Lake Zurich over who has rights to the parcel, unless several issues can be agreed upon between the two villages. Among those issues are revenue sharing and access roads.

LHS to cut programs to educate new kids?

LIBERTYVILLE — Libertyville School District 128 has hired lawyers for representation before the Regional Board of School Trustees to fight against North Chicago Unit Dist. 187's petition for dissolution. Should the Regional Board approve the petition, nearly 2,000 students, elementary and high school, would be forced into school Districts 128 and 68, and Dist. 128 would go to court. With the potential influx of students and North Chicago buildings, Gossett said if the North Chicago Unit Dist. 187's petition for dissolution is approved, either school taxes would increase, or programming would be cut for students.

New school team for Round Lake

ROUND LAKE—Newly-appointed Supt. Mary Davis has started to select her own team by picking two in-house administrators for key spots. They are Dr. Ellyn Zimmerman, principal of Village School, to become the new assistant superintendent; and James Prorok, high school student dean, to be the new director of activities and athletics. Smith will succeed Dr. Robert Sherman at the end of the school year when he takes early retirement.

Partnership sets plan for community goals

ELA TOWNSHIP—A Snowflake program for middle school students, increased use of a parent network, formation of an adopt-a-grandparent program and the realization of a helping-hands program for youths are among the goals set at the fourth partnership-wide meeting of the Elia Area Community Partnership. The partnership brings together community leaders, parents, educators, police and student representatives.

Dist. 68 continues plight for N. Chicago

LIBERTYVILLE — Showing his enthusiasm for fairness in education, Dist. 68 Superintendent Patrick Patt asked residents to begin a telephone campaign for Funds for North Chicago School Dist. 187 despite the board's decision to dissolve. The dissolution brings nearly 2,000 students to the Libertyville area, along with four buildings.

Village, police move into new home

LINCOLNSHIRE — The Administrative and Public Safety Center will open for business, Monday, March 29 at One Olde Half Day Road. The new building will house both the village administrative offices and the police department. New phone numbers — village, 883-8600; police dept., 883-9900.

Sundial town homes spark opposition

FOX LAKE — An impressive array of opposition is gearing up in an attempt to stop a proposed town homes project at Sundial Farms. The Fox Lake Zoning Board of Appeals will mull developer Dave Laurine's request for a zoning change to accommodate the construction of 96 town homes on 14 of Sundial's 200-plus acres. The proposed town home site is a revamped gravel pit at the intersection of State Park Road and Spring Grove's Main Street. The zoning board scheduled a public hearing on the topic for Thursday, March 25 at 7:30 p.m. in the village hall.

Revitalization project finalizing its vision

MUNDELEIN—The steering committee developing a plan for downtown revitalization will make a presentation of their conceptual mission plan and vision statement to the Mundelein Village Board of Trustees in the coming weeks. The presentation to the board is the third arm in the group's process to develop a three-year plan for revitalization. They met with business owners in January and with residents last week.

Poetry slams become permanent in town

WAUCONDA — Poetry slams have made such a hit in Wauconda, the event has decided to pitch a tent and stay for the duration of forever. The poetry slam, a dramatic reading and acting out of poetry, was scheduled to run at O'Trains through the end of March, sponsored by the Wauconda Area Public Library. However, the "slam" has become such a hot topic, the event will be scheduled every Wednesday night from 7:30 p.m.

Village continuing to fund legal fight

GRAYSLAKE—The Village of Grayslake is denying rumors that the village is pulling out of funding the Skokie Valley asphalt lawsuit. The village denied the firm a special use permit last year that set off a legal battle. That lawsuit is expected to be ruled on in October.

Barkhausen may help School Dist. 187

NORTH CHICAGO — State Sen. David N. Barkhausen's bill authorizing the Lake County Regional Board of School Trustees to require school districts adjacent to financially-strapped North Chicago Dist. 187 to contribute funds in order to prevent the dissolution of the district was approved by the Senate Education Committee, and now goes to the full Senate.

Proposed school will not be hazardous

ISLAND LAKE — About 550 students would attend the proposed Island Lake School. With the increase in students in the area some residents were concerned with traffic hazards and other potentially dangerous situations. Dist. 118 Superintendent Darrell Dick said provisions have been made at the site and there will not be a safety hazard. Wauconda Grade School currently houses over 760 students, about 25 to 29 students per classroom in kindergarten through fifth-grade classes, and six mobile classrooms are in use. The proposed cost is $600,000 more than the last two referendums, which were denied.

Opponents trash mayor's school plan

NORTH CHICAGO — Though Mayor Bobby Thompson's plan of imposing a 1.5-percent tax surcharge on all sales of items sold at the Defense Commissary Agency, Navy Exchange outlets, including McDonald's, and all other consumer goods sold on federal land at Great Lakes Naval Training Center, the plan has no basis in law. Candidates and the Great Lakes blasted the plan because they feel it would not be enough to help the school and it has no basis in law.

Measure EMF level for new village law

ROUND LAKE BEACH—Electromagnetic field (EMF) levels will be checked throughout the village by a consulting firm to be hired. With this information in hand the village plans an ordinance governing safe levels. Using a gauss meter purchased last year, no unsafe measurements have been found in the village, even directly adjacent to high-tension power lines next to the village hall.

Severe budget cuts to end student activities

ANTIOCH—In what could be the toughest decision ever made in Antioch Community High School District 117 history, the school's Board of Education pledged to balance the 1993-94 budget, which will mean the elimination of several teachers and all student activities if an educational fund referendum is not passed in April 20. According to Superintendent Dr. Robert Schley, the school faces an additional $1.5 million deficit next year and to balance the budget, the school will have to eliminate 9.3 teachers and all student activities like athletics, music, band and student government. The education fund is already $2 million in debt.

Nuclear energy: Clearing up misconceptions

Many people freeze when they hear the phrase "nuclear energy." Many do not understand it; many are misinformed. To clear up the confusion of nuclear energy and what it means to us, it's easier to translate the ideas by discussing the issue in common terms.

Nuclear energy is the most powerful known source of energy, which results from changes in the core, or nucleus, of atoms. Nuclear reactions create the immense heat and light of the sun. In the past 25 years, the term "nuclear" has replaced "atomic" energy, but the two words are interchangeable.

To harness nuclear energy, the protons and neutrons within the nucleus must be made to let go of some of the energy that binds them together. In current technology the atom splits, or undergoes fission. It was only 40 years ago that scientists discovered a way, not just to split atoms, but to control the fission process. The resulting release of energy can be captured and used to produce electricity.

Nuclear fusion--the power source of the sun and stars--joins two atoms instead of splitting one. If it proves feasible, nuclear fusion could provide an almost unlimited source of energy with more safety than fission processes. During the past 35 years, several international programs have made substantial progress in understanding the physics of creating fusion energy. So far, however, the amount of energy required to create a fusion reaction exceeds the energy gained, and the research has been extremely expensive. The technical difficulties may take another half-century to solve before commercial reactors can be built.

Current nuclear power plants create fission reactions that heat water into steam, which runs a turbine and generates electricity. Heat is produced when nuclear reactions split atoms of uranium fuel. The fission of one pound of uranium fuel in a nuclear power plant releases as much energy as the burning of about 1,140 tons of coal.

Nuclear reactions release radiation, which is both useful and dangerous. Nuclear radiation contributes to medicine, research, and industry. But radiation is dangerous when exposure is not carefully controlled. Scientists do not yet understand fully how different levels of radiation affect human health.

Similarly, nuclear electric power has advantages and disadvantages as an energy source in comparison with traditional fossil fuels such as oil, coal, and natural gas. Nuclear power plants use much less fuel than fossil fuel plants, and when running properly do not release chemical pollutants such as sulfur dioxide into the air or water. (For a discussion of the side effects of fossil fuel energy production see sections on acid rain and the greenhouse effect.)

However, the financial costs and potential hazards of nuclear plants are often significantly higher than those of fossil fuel facilities. A 1986 nuclear plant accident in Chernobyl, Ukraine, resulted in serious radioactive contamination of the nearby environment and adversely affected public health. The production of nuclear energy results in extremely dangerous wastes that must be stored without contaminating land and water. Uranium-235, the fuel currently used in nuclear plants, also has a limited supply.

These and other well-publicized problems in nuclear plants, particularly at Three Mile Island in Pennsylvania, resulted in recent U.S. pessimism about the future of nuclear energy as an electricity source. The growth of the nuclear power industry slowed after 1974 when rising oil prices prompted lower demand for electricity, and higher interest rates raised the capital costs of building new plants.

Since then, public concern about the safety of these plants and the costs associated with stricter regulation resulted in many cancelled or delayed orders. No new nuclear plants have been ordered in the United States since 1978.

Despite nuclear power's limited use in this country, a dwindling supply of fossil fuels could speed its redevelopment. Many scientists predict that the global supply of oil may run out within 100 years. While coal is more plentiful, burning this fuel produces pollutants that may seriously damage the Earth's atmosphere. Scientists also are working on non-uranium-235 fuels, and on safer technologies such as nuclear fusion and advanced reactor designs that are less vulnerable to human error.

In 1991, there were 106 reactors still in service in the United States, producing about 20 percent of the nation's total electrical power.

Other countries that invest heavily in nuclear power include Japan, France, Britain, South Korea, Sweden, and Belgium. France and Japan account for the highest use, with France generating more than 70 percent of its electrical power from nuclear energy. At the 1992 U.N. Earth Summit in Rio, Japan confirmed it would build 20 nuclear plants this decade and add 40 new facilities by 2010.

EMF: The debate goes on among warring factions

For the past 10 to 15 years, scientists have grappled with a puzzling and elusive observation: Electromagnetic fields associated with everything from household appliances to electric power lines appear linked to some forms of cancer, especially in children. While numerous studies have attempted to pin down a cause-and-effect relationship, the findings are equivocal and remain a subject of debate among experts in the field.

The current consensus seems to be that a connection between electromagnetic fields and leukemia, brain cancer, and in some cases, breast cancer cannot be easily dismissed. A number of researchers believe that further studies are needed to find a clearer association before measures are taken to protect the public from a potential health threat. Other scientists advocate taking simple, immediate, and inexpensive precautions to reduce exposure to electromagnetic fields (EMFs).

The electromagnetic fields under scrutiny are produced by extremely low-frequency electric currents, which are omnipresent in every electrical outlet and device at home and at work. EMFs occur when electric current passes through power lines, or when an electrical appliance such as a hair dryer or electric blanket is turned on.

For most of this century scientists have known that x-rays and other high-frequency radiation sources could cause health problems following a very high exposure. Public health laws at the turn of the century banned Americans from owning personal x-ray machines, which were once considered to be a device for entertaining guests at Victorian parties! But the discovery that low frequency electromagnetic fields from appliances and electric transformers may have medical consequences is problematic because avoiding electricity is almost impossible.

An electromagnetic field occurs when electric and magnetic fields combine. The stronger the current, the more powerful the magnetic field, which scientists measure in units called gauss. The strength of an electric field, or voltage, is measured in volts per meter. Most recent studies suggest that it is the magnetic rather than the electric component within EMFs that may pose a health risk.

But the questions about the effects of magnetic fields remain numerous and unresolved. Some questions include: How strong must a magnetic field be to have an effect? Do exposures to EMFs from appliances, from electric power transformers, or from the line that brings electricity to a building have different kinds of health risks? How important is the length or time of exposure?

A broader consideration is the comparative health risks associated with EMFs. Epidemiologists note that the cancer risk from EMFs seems relatively small compared to that from smoking cigarettes or from other health risks that most people take for granted. The chances of a child dying in a homicide, traffic accident, or drowning are much greater than a youngster's apparent risk of death from living near a high-power transmission line.

Other related issues include: Why have the public and some governments already reacted to perceptions of health risks from EMFs when the scientific evidence remains mixed? How can scientific knowledge be advanced?

Minimizing effects of EMF

Many scientists believe there are interim, pragmatic steps individuals can take to minimize the impact of EMFs regardless of eventual scientific findings. Granger Morgan of Carnegie Mellon University argues for "prudent avoidance." This means low-cost, simple steps to reduce exposure, such as not using electric blankets, moving motor-driven electric clocks away from beds, positioning beds against walls that do not carry electrical lines, and more use of manual rather than electrical appliances.

To curtail potential problems in the electrical lines that link dwellings to transmission lines, some scientists advocate "prudent field reduction." Suggested strategies here include burying electrical lines and reverse phasing, which changes the construction of transmission line links to minimize magnetic field exposure.

Most studies of EMF health effects have been funded by the Department of Energy and the EPRI which, critics maintain, have a pro-utility bias. Louis Slesin, editor of Microwave News and one of the first people to take EMFs seriously, argues that a stronger governmental commitment to providing independent research funding is needed.

U.S. House Science, Space, and Technology Committee Chairman George E. Brown Jr. (D-Calif.) is one of several legislators supporting plans to establish research programs that would involve agencies such as the EPA and the National Institute of Environmental Health Sciences.

The status of congressional initiatives and federal expenditures on EMFs may be interesting for broadcasters to monitor as the national demand for electricity grows and as scientific ambiguity and public concern about EMFs continue.

AT&T's On The Board?

If our newspaper spent more time covering news, maybe it wouldn't have to fill its pages with a column like this. What happened about getting news to its readers? School districts, villages, etc. get no coverage of their meetings. Therefore, no information is available to the public until it's too late for action. Of course, you can't cover phone calls, which must be where so many decisions are made because meeting after meeting at the Dist. 41 school board, votes are taken with no give and take discussion or public input.

Voting At The Right Place?

Have you just moved here? Voting registration is a crucially important issue. Are you voting at the right place? Take a moment and look at a map. In unincorporated Grant Twp., there are many new residents. There are also duplicate street names in Ingleside. You could vote in the wrong office. Don't be sent to vote where you shouldn't be. Call Lake County Voting information at 360-7310 if you have a problem on where to vote.

We're Not Ya-Hoos!

Regarding "Inconsiderate Snowmobilers," please do not lump us all in the group of ya-hoos who don't respect other people's property. One major problem is that there are no good trail systems down here. That's why we trail our sleds up to Michigan.

Dirty, Dangerous Buses

I'm rather new to this area and I was introduced to your paper and your column. Now that winter's almost over, it's almost like closing the garage door after the car is out, but I want to know if anybody else has noticed this. I live in an area where I see school buses all day long. On cold days, every one of these bus windows are steamed up or frosted over, including the back window. I know you can't undo all of the side windows, but isn't there a law that the rear window should be clear of the dirt, grime and steam. It bothers me that the safety of our children is in the hands of a bus with windows that you can't see out of.

Be Objective

This is in response to Bill Schroeder's sickening sweet article about Dr. Dam and his pier. Maybe Bill Schroeder should go back to school and learn the definition of slanted journalism. There are two sides to this pier issue, Schroeder. The Dam pier issue is not sold. Be objective, Schroeder.

Power Lines Are Dangerous

Every week I read the Wauconda Leader and there's always an article or Lipservice call about those dangers, Commonwealth Edison Power lines. This week, there was an article by our Rep. Al Salvi. He expressed what many of us already fear. Will it be the asbestos of the 1990s. Why can't Com-Ed do what Sweden is doing and bury those lines? Why did Com-Ed put those huge power lines in Mundelein near Carmel High School and St. Mary's? Let's wake up, people. Those lines are very dangerous.

Looks And Popularity

I have one question. Why is it that looks and popularity are the most important things wherever you go?

Solve All The Problems

My wife and I were reading Lipservice and I think it's really interesting in this time of economic chaos, health care problems and other major problems, only two people mentioned that we need more Old Country Buffets. That would be a beautiful thing as far as I'm concerned. An Old Country Buffet on every corner would solve all our problems. I'm all for it. The solution to making America great again is an Old Country Buffet.

Lead is in the news. And it could be in your tap water, too.

Lead has been in the headlines for months all over the Chicagoland area. More recently, several communities have distributed brochures discussing the hazards of lead in tap water. Lead, along with chlorine, aluminum, and other harmful impurities, is another good reason why you should call Hinckley & Schmitt today.

The Pure Water People have everything from bottled water delivery to water filtration systems, including reverse osmosis, for home or office. You'll also find a variety of Hinckley & Schmitt waters on the shelves at your favorite food or drug store.

Call Hinckley & Schmitt today. Let us explain the options for providing you and your family clean, safe water for drinking and cooking.

Larson stresses community pride

Pride in the Village of Antioch and a sense of tradition that they want preserved for future generations is guiding the "A Better Community" (ABC) slate in their bid for election, April 20.

ABC wants to continue the long tradition of Antioch citizens in banding together in a spirit of cooperation—a spirit that built the Saw Mill and swimming pool and saved the "old school" (built in 1892) from demolition and turned it into a museum to preserve the citizen's rich heritage.

"The warm spirit of our past Centennial Year is still vivid in all our minds. From the kick off event, the Centennial Ball, through to the building of Centennial Park and the excitement of Centennial Week, we all have memories and stories to tell our generations to follow," said Dorothy Larson, candidate for village trustee.

ABC's main goal is to continue Antioch's high standards of community involvement.

"As a candidate for village trustee, I fully support the ABC Party's platform to include a program that would assure the continuation of these types of projects at little or no cost to taxpayers," said Larson. "In addition to the park and playground programs, some of the other activities I will continue to support are bicycle and jogging paths, expanded senior activities and a community center for our young people. With the pride we all share in Antioch, I believe these things can be accomplished without a tax burden on our citizens."

In addition, Larson will propose that the village continue to support activities and group which show pride in the Antioch community and participate in events such as the Veterans Day and Fourth of July parades and work toward the restoration of Antioch landmarks.

Larson served for two years prior to the Centennial celebration on the steering committee which organized all the events of the Centennial year.

SWAT offers solutions for area leaf disposal

Lakeland Newspapers

With environmental concerns on many people's minds these days, the Start Working for Antioch's Tomorrow party plans to address environmental issues in Antioch by offering a new approach to leaf disposal.

SWAT mayoral candidate Larry Hanson said that the problem of yard waste, which is now occupying 35-50 percent of the waste being placed into landfills, must be addressed without placing the heavy burden on the property owners in the village.

Hanson believes the present contract with Waste Management is unsatisfactory because it call for the use of expensive Kraft bags that cost up $1 each.

"This is truly a burden on senior citizens and many families," said Hanson.

In addition, leaf burning is really not a viable option, according to Hanson, because the high cost to the environment and well as the health concerns to allergy and asthma sufferers.

To solve the leaf problem, Hanson proposes a plan where Waste Management, or some other company, would vacuum leaves from the edge of the street for a cost of $11-15 per house.

Hanson said this plan could be implemented as early as Sept. 1993, since Waste Management's service contract is up for renewal next year.

Another girl for Marra family

Lakeland Newspapers

An Antioch family, who was expecting its fifth child in less than three years earlier in the month, added another girl to the pack on March 8.

Denise and Lou Marra, who for more than five years thought that they could never have a family on their own, received Melissa Jennie Marra through a cesarean section operation at St. Therese Medical Center.

"Things are going real good," said Denise Marra from the comfort of her six and a half acre rural Antioch home. "We got a really good baby this time."

The Marra's, according to Denise, had trouble conceiving their first child and were told that they should prepare for the reality of not having children.

"It was devastating to think that we were not going to be able to have a family of our own," said Marra. "I couldn't go anywhere near kids without starting to cry."

The Marra's other children are named Matthew, Nicholas, Amanda, and Rebecca.

According to Marra, the biggest concern for her, 33, and Lou, 43, is how they are going to put the kids through college.

"We just love our kids and would never trade places with anyone else," said Marra.

Dist. 34 names new AUGS principal

The District 34 Board of Education named Debbie Kerr-Carpenter as the new Antioch Upper Grade School principal beginning July 1.

Kerr-Carpenter, who is only the second principal in AUGS's 21 year history, is currently the principal at Tanana Middle School in Fairbanks, Alaska, a post she has held for two years.

According to Superintendent Dr.

Donald Skidmore, Kerr-Carpenter has earned numerous awards, including Outstanding Assistant Principal in the State of Alaska.

Kerr-Carpenter will replace retiring AUGS Principal Bill Herbst, who has been the principal at the school since it opened in 1971. Herbst is retiring after serving the district for 34 years.

SHARE Food Program continues in Antioch

Once again I remind you that the Antioch Exchange Club continues to host the SHARE Food Program. People just like you and me are saving 60 percent on groceries each month. Let SHARE Food help you stretch your dollar to the limit. For a $15 registration fee, you will receive a $35 value of food. A sample SHARE Food order consists of meat, frozen vegetables, cereal, cookies, crackers, fresh fruit, fresh vegetables, rice, etc.

You may register at the State Bank of Antioch (both facilities), First National Bank of Antioch and the Lake Villa Twp. office. SHARE Food orders can be picked up at the Antioch VFW on North Ave. If you register in time, the next two scheduled drop off/pick up dates are April 10 and May 8. Circle those dates on your calendar and make sure you register in time to participate.

For more information concerning the SHARE Food Program, please call Claudette Skvarce at 395-6744, Ardeen Harris at 395-2761 or Yolanda Obermaier at 395-7554.

Post prom

Once again the ACHS staff, parents and students have worked together to produce another very memorable post-prom activity. The cost of a beautiful, early-morning, Lake Michigan cruise is only $10 per person.

The $10 fee includes motor coach bus pick up from either the prom site at the Crystal Lake Holiday Inn or the ACHS parking lot. Participants will board the Odyssey Cruise Boat at Navy Pier on Lake Michigan and take over an entire level of the boat.

Dancing will not stop at the prom. It will continue to the music of a DJ aboard the Odyssey. There will be a large variety of snacks to enjoy on the bus ride down and a delicious breakfast box of food to enjoy on the trip back to ACHS.

The following are some of the great door prizes that will be raffled off that evening—2 CD players, a Michigan Starter Jacket, color TV, Bears tickets and a telephone answering machine. The post-prom cruise will be limited to 250 students. So don't delay in signing up, and tickets will be sold on a first come, first served basis beginning April 6.

The bus will return the post prom goes to the ACHS parking lot after 5 a.m. The cruise lasts two hours, from 1:30 to 3:30 a.m.

Talk about stretching "the almighty dollar"—coach bus service, moonlight cruise, dancing, snacks, great door prizes, breakfast and fantastic memories for only $10. Oh! To be young again!

Daytime bingo

LIZ SCHMEHL

Antioch Moose Lodge. If the message was correct, it appears that attendance to the Wednesday afternoon bingo games held at the Moose lodge was minimal. The caller was concerned that the Lodge may be forced to discontinue offering this daytime bingo experience if participation in it doesn't pick up. The concern was that it is difficult for many seniors to participate in nighttime bingo.

So now "The Lizard" is stepping in to remind Antioch residents and residents of the nearby towns to support Wednesday afternoon bingo at the Lodge with your attendance whenever possible. For further information concerning this, please call or stop in at the Moose Lodge in Antioch.

Lotus School

The new title of the Lotus School newsletter was chosen after the title contest ended. "Lotus Lions Roar to Work" received the greatest number of votes and that is now the official title of the newsletter.

The "Excellent Effort" students-of-the-month are Samantha Rivera, Neil Drews, Matthew Wilson, Nicholas Fain, Joshua Dyal, Britni Mieszanek, Heather Zabski and Hillary Try.

Mrs. Calliger's class received first place during attendance week with 100 percent of the students in attendance. Congratulations to everyone and keep up the great work.

Egg hunt

March 26 is the final day to register your child(ren) ages two to nine years for the Antioch Parks Dept. second annual "Excellent Easter Adventure."

The egg hunt will begin immediately following the Saturday, April 3 Easter Parade through downtown Antioch. The hunt will be held in the open area north of the Antioch Lower Grade School playground. Contact the Parks Dept., Carol Todd, at 395-2160 for further information.

Incidentally, the ALGS is located on the corner of Depot and Main Sts.

Craft fair

As stated above, there will be an Easter Egg Hunt at the Antioch Lower Grade School immediately following the parade. The ALGS will be a busy place that day, April 3. In conjunction with the hunt, there will be a Craft Show at the school from 9 a.m. till 4 p.m.

Approximately 36 crafters will be on hand to sell their beautiful wares. A luncheon, bake sale and great raffle prizes will also be part of the Craft Sale. Designate April 3 as "Antioch Day"—Parade/Egg Hunt/Luncheon/Craft Sale.

More nice people

I recently talked about lunching at the Las Vegas Restaurant and named three of the waitresses who are known to me personally. Since that time I have discovered the names of two more of our efficient meal servers—Pam Estrada and Jean Benser. So now they join the ranks of Marie Bruba, Frankie Wanke and Shirley Vaughan as waitresses known to "The Lizard."

Keep up the good work, ladies. We are definitely spoiled and appreciate the fine, efficient, caring service you give us—not to mention the good food. We must always strive to keep our weight up, and enjoying good food is the easiest way to do it!

Man those bonnets

"Put on your Easter bonnet, with all the frills upon it!" Hope for a sunny, mild April 3 and hop aboard your chariot to attend the

Woodchuck

Let's see, how does it go? "How much wood would a woodchuck chuck, if a woodchuck would chuck wood?"

Keep reading! I hope close counts.

Letter to the Editor

Unprofessional Editor

This letter is to comment on the poor conduct of the ABC Party at the Oakwood Knolls Candidate night March 10. The ABC Party and SWAT Party each represent candidates for mayor and three trustees for the Village of Antioch.

ABC had the opportunity to speak before their opponents, the SWAT Party. When the SWAT Party took their turn at the podium, ABC stood in the back and proceeded to laugh, talk out loud and put down the SWAT candidates while they were speaking. Their discussion was to the point I was unable to hear the speakers, and another individual asked ABC to give SWAT a chance to speak, which finally quieted them down.

It is my hope that other individuals attending this function witnessed this group's lack of professional courtesy and cast their votes accordingly. I can only imagine the ABC Party's behavior on the village board toward citizens should they be voted into office.

Antioch Fire Department offers fire safety information

The Antioch Fire Department is offering informational articles and publications on fire safety to concerned citizens.

According to Antioch Fire officials, every year more than 5,000 people die in fires across the nation, hundreds of them in Illinois. Even though the United States is a global leader in technology, it has the highest death rate in the world.

The articles cover today's important fire issues and suggest ways to decrease the number of fires and fire related injuries. Educating the citizens of Antioch on the importance of planning and preparing for a fire safe environment is essential, according to the fire bureau.

For more information or to obtain the articles, call the Antioch Fire Prevention Bureau at 395-8437.

ACHS JETS students win awards

The Antioch Community High School Junior Engineering Technical Society team earned several awards at Test of Engineering, Mathematics and Science held at the College of Lake County.

BEST calls for new 1993-94 balanced budget plan

Lakeland Newspapers

The local school watchdog group Better Education-Sensible Taxes, who has been calling for a balanced budget since the district began deficit spending several years ago, is pleased the Antioch Community School District Board is committed to balancing the budget, but unhappy with the presented plan to do so.

BEST spokesman Vern Holmes, who has already named himself a candidate for next November's school board elections, claims that the school board is doing the right thing by attempting to balance the budget for the 1993-94 school year, but the plan to do so unnecessarily harms the educational futures of the school's students.

"Taking away extra-curricular activities should never be an issue in balancing the budget," said Holmes. "This is the worst thing I've ever heard."

BEST claims, according to Holmes, that the board of education is just playing around with the voter's emotions by claiming that if the referendum doesn't pass, extra-curricular will be cut permanently from the school.

"Yes, I understand that there is not enough money to go around," said Holmes. "However, this referendum is necessary not from need, but from mismanagement."

According to Holmes, BEST members have spent the past few weekends distributing flyers to district residents and talking to them.

Despite the group's hard work to ensure the district gets the best education possible for the minimal taxes, BEST has been hammered lately for some of the information in the distributed flyers.

School officials have called the flyer "war propaganda", while BEST continues to claim the board of education has lied to the voters on several occasions and continues to cover up their mismanagement of the school.

While it is true that the Education fund, the fund which pay staff salaries, buys books and equipment for the classroom, and funds sports and other student activities, is in the red, the school's other funds, like the transportation fund, are not.

This is partly due to the fact that the school placed the burden of the tax cap law on the education fund, while allowing full collection under the law for the school's other funds. This will change for 1993-94 as the education fund will receive its full monetary allotment while other funds feel the pinch.

The $.36 education fund referendum, which has been used as a pawn by both sides of the table, will cost the average district taxpayer $108 a year in additional taxes for a home with a market value of $100,000, according to ACHS Superintendent Dr. Robert Schley.

BEST has attempted to cloud the issue with taxpayers by confusing market value with assessed valuation and equalized valuation. In the group's flyer, BEST claims that taxpayers will be hit with a $360 increase if the education referendum passes. A taxpayer would have to own a home assessed at three times the $100,000 equalized valuation figure BEST uses in their flyer to reach the $360 tax increase BEST claims will occur.

The real issue, according to School Board member Ted Axton, here is who are the voters going to believe, their elected representatives to the school board or BEST?

The April 20 election will be the school's most important moment in more than 100 years. If the board plans to continue with plans to balance the budget and the referendum doesn't pass, then present and future students of ACHS will not have any formal clubs or sports to participate in.

"I really don't know what the board will do," said Schley. "If the board balances the budget without additional revenue, severe cuts will have to be made and no one will win if that happens."

ACHS

funding, which has amounted to over $1.1 million for the past two years and could cost the district $200,000 next year, by placing the effects of the state mandated tax cap on all other funds except the education fund and initiating spending cuts of nearly $850,000.

Reduction in force notices will be sent to three tenured teachers, while five untenured teachers will see the ax fall. In addition, Schley asked the board to place a salary freeze on all employees. The savings here add up to $320,000.

Schley then asked for a change in three administration positions, reducing the number of months worked from 12 to 10, while reducing the salary of another for a savings of $62,700.

Then Schley cut right to the heart of the high school students in attendance by announcing the elimination of co-curricular activities and athletics. The cost cutting measure would save the district $327,450.

The school would also lose two full-time secretaries and change four from full year to school year positions. The savings here would top $67,200.

Lastly, Schley announced the elimination of two hall guards, a teacher aide, and a computer technician at a savings of $69,000.

In total, the school, with all of these cuts, will still miss its $850,000 target to balance the budget by more than $3,600.

Schley didn't know where the last few cuts would come from yet, but something else will have to go before the budget is fully balanced.

"The only three areas not cut from the education fund were the cafeteria, which is self supporting, the special education program, and the supplies and equipment account," said Schley. "The board is facing some very difficult decisions regarding the future of the school. However, the ultimate outcome will not be determined by the board, but by the voters on April 20."

Schley added that co-curricular activities would be reinstated and some considerations would be made to bring back over half of the teachers that received reduction in force letters.

Calvary Christian School band wins awards at competition

Calvary Christian School students competed in 19 events at the Illinois Grade School Music Association Solo and Ensemble Contest winning 15 divisions and four seconds.

Winning first place awards were: Soloists: Jeremy Hyllberg, Lisa Langenberg, Rebekah VanOverbeke, Jason Dahl, Pam Merkh, James Langenberg, Robert Bradshaw, Shea

Walsh, April Persik, Jennifer Wittbrodt. Duets: Erika Sweeting and Rebekah VanOverbeke, Jason Dahl and Rob Bradshaw, Jon Novak and Doug Shook, and Shea Walsh and April Persik. Quartet: David Langenberg, Pam Merkh, Erin August, and Nick Kurtz.

Students

"We will let the students express their opinions and feelings," said ACHS Superintendent Dr. Robert Schley. "However, at some point we will have to get back intervene and get them back to class."

However, not all students plan to picket and protest to get their voice heard. ACHS juniors Sean Nolan and Marc Gantar are heading up a group of students who are concerned about the possible elimination of student activities and plan to get out into the community to help inform the voters about the education fund referendum.

"We have a lot of work to do," said Nolan. "Our whole country is in a deficit right now and I understand why the board is trying to balance the budget, but I would hate to think what our school would be like with out activities."

ACHS without student activities, according to Nolan, would cause a number of families to move away and seek other schools for their children.

"The referendum is worth the cost to the taxpayers," said Nolan. "People must realize how important this referendum is to us."

Both Nolan and Gantar stressed that the voters must find out the truth for themselves and attend public meetings on this issue. Nolan said tax watcher groups like BEST usually only tell one side of the story and twist information in their favor.

"If people know the facts, they will support it," said Nolan.

Dist. 34 kindergarten registration

Registration for fall kindergarten classes at Antioch District 34 school is scheduled for April 13 and 14 at Antioch Elementary and Oakland Grade Schools.

Parents are asked to register their children at the school their child will attend at these times: April 13 from 9 a.m. to 1 p.m. and from 2 to 4 p.m. April 14 from 9 a.m. to 1 p.m. and from 6:30 to 8 p.m.

A student must be five-years-old on or before Sept. 1, 1993 to enter kindergarten. Parents must bring the child's birth certificate, and a proof of residency to the registration.

For more information, call the school your child will be attending for more details.

Emmons kindergarten registration

Emmons School's Kindergarten registration day is set for May 5 at 7 p.m. at the school. Children who will be five-years-old by Sept. 1, 1993 are eligible for kindergarten.

Parents must furnish a copy of their child's birth certificate at registration. Registration forms will be completed and health forms distributed, in addition to curriculum and classroom activities discussed.

Children will have the opportunity to visit the classrooms and meet their teacher. Parents are asked to call the school to get their child on the kindergarten list if they have not already done so. Call the school at 395-1105.

court." Metz, who according to Miller is an outstanding officer and a 16-year veteran of the force, and another officer arrested the woman on May 7, 1986 for disorderly conduct at the former Globe store in Antioch.

According to Miller, nothing was said about the incident until the woman filed suit two years later, claiming Metz used excessive force and illegally searched her.

"If she would have said something then, we would have investigated it then," said Miller. "But that she didn't say anything for two years tells me that she didn't have a case in the first place."

Fireworks raffle to defray July 4 celebration begins

With Antioch's July 4th celebration rapidly approaching, "The Rockets Red Glare" raffle sponsored by the Antioch Chamber of Commerce will give one lucky winner $5,000 and help defray the cost of the weekend celebration.

The raffle tickets cost $5 and only 2,000 will be sold. Tickets are available at the Chamber of Commerce, 1st National Bank of Antioch, 1st Chicago Bank of Antioch and various other locations throughout the village. The remaining $5,000 collected from the sale of the raffle tickets will go directly pay part of the costs of the celebration.

According to July 4 Committee Chairman Claude LeMere, the celebration will begin on July 3 at 9:30 a.m. with pre-parade entertainment on Main Street, followed by the parade at 10 a.m. Immediately after the parade, a fun fair for kids of all ages is planned at Williams Park. There will be games, sack races, three legged races, pony rides, petting zoo, clowns, and refreshments.

The celebration will continue on July 4 at Williams Park when the village will host its second annual sports tournament. Tournaments for baseball, basketball, volleyball, and horseshoes will be conducted. A dunk tank, fishing casting contest, bell ring, apple pie baking contest, a tug-o-war between the Antioch Lions Club and Antioch Rescue Squad, Fire Department water fights, bingo, entertainment by the Lakes Area Community Band, Grease Band, and P.M. & L. performances will keep everyone entertained.

The weekend will conclude with another of Antioch's world-famous fireworks displays. Delicious food and refreshments will be provided by the Antioch Lions Club.

"The weekend's celebration has the single purpose to enhance patriotism and celebrate our nation's birthday with the upmost of respect and dignity while we aid in the preservation of Antioch as a friendly, family oriented rural American community rich in tradition," said LeMere.

Junior Champion

Former St. Peters School student Melissa Ream, now a freshman at Wilmet High School, qualified to compete at the U.S. Ski Association Rolex Junior Olympic Championships in Colorado this weekend. Ream was also named to the National High School Skiing Team after competing in the Wisconsin State Skiing Championships earlier in the month.

Rotary Club offers college scholarships to ACHS grads

The Antioch Rotary Club is continuing to give college scholarships to ACHS graduating seniors who intend to enroll in school this fall.

To qualify for the numerous scholarships awarded by the Rotary Club, students must either be seeking an associates degree in a two-year program, seeking a four-year degree from a university or four-year college, but plan to first enroll in a community college, or are seeking a bachelors' degree from a four-year college or university.

ACHS now offers personal power for area teenagers

Antioch Community High School is breaking new ground as one of the first schools in the state to offer a class that addresses the everyday needs encountered by high school students.

In the class, "Personal Power," teens learn how to develop self esteem, motivation and responsibility. The purpose of the 18-week class is to help students claim the self-esteem, identify their individual talents, create the internal motivation and drive to expand those talents, and assume responsibility for themselves and their actions with others.

"It is just a great class for students who are looking to better themselves and find direction in their lives," said Lauri Hargrove, the program's teacher.

The "Personal Power" class, offered through the Student Assistance Program, is officially called "affective Skills Development for Adolescents." The program is now used as the model for other area school interested in addressing these student needs.

The first ACHS class consists of: Brenda Brylinke, Karen Celkis, Mike Gedville, Dustin King, Mark Kurylo, Kirk Pluister, Jason Sheehan, Tina Stochmal, and Brian Yost.

Letter to the Editor

Disagreeing ok Editor:

I am writing in response to Mrs. Foresta's letter to the editor. I am truly surprised at her interpretation of our conversation at the Oakwood Knolls Candidates Night. Obviously her recollection and mine totally differ.

I believe everyone has a right to express their ideas and question elected officials, but once questioned, they should be given the opportunity to respond.

I believe Foresta is a strong supporter of the ARC (Against Riverboat Casino) and I understand there are strong emotional issues regarding their platform. Many people feel strongly both pro and against riverboat gambling. I do not have strong feelings for or against it, but I did sign the petition to put the issue on the April 20 ballot. I do feel all of Antioch's citizens have a right to cast their ballots to have their voices heard.

I am sorry if I won't be getting Foresta's vote, but I welcome any opportunity to discuss our differences, if in fact we even have any, and answer any questions she has regarding my position on issues relating to Antioch. Even if we cannot agree I still intend to try to represent her fairly when I'm elected.

Area materials company to celebrate Earth Day

Antioch materials company Tuscarora Inc., wants area residents to add foam recycling to their spring cleaning chores and drop off their expanded polystyrene white foam packaging and "peanuts" as part of an Earth Day recycling program on April 22.

The recycling event will occur from 8 a.m. to 4 p.m. at the company's Antioch facility at 181 Ida Avenue and is part of a yearlong, permanent program at Tuscarora.

"Our participation in the special Earth Day recycling program give us an opportunity to educate consumers and businesses about EPS recycling," said Brian LaCourse of Tuscarora. "As a manufacturer of EPS foam packaging, we want people to know the EPS is being recycled throughout the year."

The foam collected will be ground up and added to new material to manufacture new packaging.

Shoplifting

An Antioch juvenile was charged with shoplifting on March 21 after being caught by a Dollar Video clerk after attempting to leave the store with a video tape shoved in the front his pants. The cost of the video is estimated at $60.

Criminal Damage

The west side of a home on the 200 block of Park Ave. received more than $1,000 in damage when the vinyl siding on the home was damaged on March 19 by what police think was a large truck attempting to back into a nearby lot. A piece of siding more than 12 feet long was damaged on the house.

School plight widens

Innovative solutions needed to solve complex plight of North Chicago public schools.

Great Lakes Naval Training Center's clearing of a Pentagon hurdle in the base closure process comes as a sobering blessing in light of the ever deepening financial morass into which the North Chicago public schools have fallen. Even if Great Lakes survives further military down-sizing, the problem of lack of appropriate federal support for children of Navy families attending public school will be on-going.

Blaming the federal government, though, for budgetary problems besetting North Chicago schools is simplistic on the surface and avoiding more complex questions of funding public education in today's society.

Most of the proposals offered so far to solve the school dilemma, unfortunately, create bigger problems than they purport to solve, to our way of thinking. Dissolution of the North Chicago schools and dispersing its students to neighboring districts smacks of 1960's busing. Creation of a super school district for the purpose of expanding a tax base to create new funding is patently unfair to both the neighbors and North Chicago, leading to the destruction of a community and undermining the concept of local school autonomy and responsibility.

State Sen. David Barkhausen (R-Lake Forest) and North Chicago Mayor Bobby Thompson have offered creative revenue generating proposals for education, but they only are temporary or partial answers.

On the basis of magnitude, the plight of the North Chicago schools is so complex and far-reaching that the district cannot be allowed to dissolve. Every available resource in both the government and the private sector must be marshaled to assist the North Chicago School district in righting itself.

Proponents of maintaining or expanding Great Lakes correctly recognize that solving the school funding dilemma is an integral part of maintaining the Navy base as a vital and contributing part of the over-all community.

Business and civic leaders with cooperation from elected officials have organized to save Great Lakes in an unprecedented assemblage of talent and resources. Although there still is much work to be done, so far they have performed yeoman service. We would like to see the same spirit and enthusiasm exerted to rescue the North Chicago public schools. Part of the school problem is a paucity of leadership. The save-the-Navy-base drive has demonstrated that Lake County possesses an unlimited storehouse of leadership. Whole new approaches have to be developed. Government--local, county, state and federal--can and must do more, but basically what we're talking about is a school-business partnership where typical education practices and school bureaucracies give way to a total overhaul, much like major industry is experiencing in the economy of the 90's. The can-do determination illustrated during World War II and the Persian Gulf War is what's needed.

Call it reinventing public education. Right in North Chicago. If that's what it takes, let's get on with the job. The sooner the better.

Letters to the Editor

'Candidate' Jackson

Editor:

Rev. Jesse Jackson is threatening a hunger strike to force President Bill Clinton to open the immigration doors that would mean increased insurance, draining Medicare and the spread of venereal disease.

Haiti is known for high venereal diseases, HIV infected persons, AIDS or AIDS virus.

I feel we should close all entry to people that have catastrophic diseases like we did years ago in Ellis Island.

Rev. Jackson should run for president of Haiti. That way he would really help them. Don't bring Haitians here and create a larger deficit in the country.

William J. Mayer
Antioch

Impact fees at issue

Editor:

Appointing Carol Calabresa to replace Mike Graham on the Libertyville High School impact fee committee is like sending an apprentice steel worker to set, bolt and rivet the top floor girders on a quarter-mile high building.

Graham has been pushing for total development impact fees for 20 years while other politicians closed their eyes to the problems. The high school's excuse for removing Graham is running for township supervisor, he might use who pays for the cost of development as an issue. That is the issue for Mr. Eicheberger and every elected and appointed official. Now they are finally forced to face it!

Does the high school board believe Calabresa is not going to run for the Lake County Board again next December?

When plain farmland is annexed and zoned it automatically becomes more valuable. Why? Because the taxpayers supply sewer service, waterlines, police and fire protection, etc. Why shouldn't the guy who reaps the profit from this also pay the impact fees for the schools--instead of asking the taxpayers to pay again.

Graham is right. The impact fees must come from the increased land value.

Jack Cervac
Libertyville

Avoid 'The Mayor'

Editor:

The mayor of Monerville Rd, Frank R. Grenus, Lake Villa, wrote the editor.

All should remember Frank placed ads for beavers to come help dam up Eagle Creek in the Village of Lake Villa. This dam would hold back water that drains through his property. Well, the beaver dammed, and the water is now three feet higher than the hundred year rains and is being held back. The water is rising on someone else's property! It should be draining into Eagle Creek, under Cedar Lake Rd., across Frank's property, under Monerville Rd., and making its way to Long Lake.

Most of this water, come July of this year, will be transmitted in a pipe to the Fox Lake Sewer Treatment Plant.

The Village of Lake Villa tried working with Frank because his property was on our sewer line route. He wants no part of this. So, we re-engineered the project, avoided his property, spent much more than $30,000 depths of the pipes for this sewer became extremely lower, and we avoided condemnation. (Municipalities have the power to condemn property for sewer construction.)

We decided an alternative route would be chosen as not to upset the "Monerville Mayor."

Joyce F. Frayer
Mayor, Village of Lake Villa

Bumper stickers foretell pain

by BILL SCHROEDER

The bumper stickers are showing up already: Don't Blame Me. I Voted For Bush.

Where the Clinton tax and spend program leads, no one is sure. But it won't be the promised land.

Lake County voters at least have the satisfaction of sending two Congressman to Washington who won't be bowled over by the Democratic "winds of change," Congressman Phil Crane (R-8th) is a known quantity in the outmanned vanguard of fiscal conservatives. Now Congressman John Porter (R-10th) is earning plaudits for introducing legislation to restrain spending and address the budget crisis.

Porter's bill, the Budget Enforcement and Deficit Reduction Act of 1993, maintains budget caps on defense, domestic and international spending which, if exceeded, would result in automatic across-the-board cuts in that category to reach the cap level. It stipulates that savings achieved in any category must be applied to deficit reduction and may not be spent in another area. The bill reduces defense spending by approximately 30 percent over five years, freezes domestic and international spending at 1993 levels with only a minor increase for inflation, and cuts the deficit to $130 billion by FY 1998, which is much less than President Clinton's projected $250 billion.

There probably are two major flaws with the Porter bill, H.R. 301. It makes sense and it is understandable.

One of the beauties of the Porter bill is that it contains machinery to force additional savings in entitlement programs. It has been hailed for retaining the "pay as you go" feature of the 1990

Budget Enforcement Act.

The Porter proposal is notable for the fact that it maps out a workable route for cutting the deficit without tax increases. Yes, there still are some clear thinkers in Washington. That provides some solace for the pain and frustration the nation will be enduring in the four years ahead.

FASTER RAIL---An organization with the fancy name of Interstate Rail Passenger Advisory Council is going to pick up where efforts like the project to establish commuter service on the Wisconsin Central leave off.

The council will be made up of lawmakers from Illinois, Indiana, Kentucky, Tennessee, Georgia and Florida to study the feasibility of high-speed rail links between metro areas.

State Sen. Dick Klemm (R-Crystal Lake) has been named to the council. Klemm, who formerly represented parts of Lake County, is a rarity in the General Assembly---a non-lawyer. Klemm is a businessman who approaches government from a common-sense viewpoint. Klemm will give us a fair shot on high speed rail.

KIND WORDS---Add Venita L. McConnel to the continually growing roster of fans of Lipservice, the popular open line opinion column in Lakeland Newspapers. McConnel, a Lake County Republican leader and former village clerk of Wauconda, writes: "I just started reading Lipservice a few weeks ago. Well, now I too, am hooked. Some of the items are serious, some not so serious and of course, some just plain outrageous. But, all are entertaining." We get inquiries from time to time what the rather unorthodox column is all about.

HALL OF FAME---Larry Frybarger, the Lake Villa wit, is having fun talking about his volunteer post on a committee to place a statue of Bill Clinton in the Hall of Fame. As Larry relates, the committee was in a quandary about whether to put the Clinton bust near the statue of George Washington, who never told a lie, or beside Al Capone, who never told the truth, because Clinton can't tell the difference.

Ah, but progress is being made. Larry tells it this way: "We finally decided to place it beside Christopher Columbus, the greatest Democrat of all. He left not knowing where he was going, did not know where he was when he got there, returned not knowing where he had been and did it all on borrowed money."

Frybarger is a scheduler at Abbott Laboratories.

ONE MAN'S FAMILY---Pop was a member of the supporting cast last Saturday when Karen exchanged wedding vows with Brian O'Toole, who grew up in Long Grove and Richmond. The newlyweds met several years ago at Wilmet Mountain where both were ski instructors. They're a perfect match. Karen willingly concedes Brian is a better skier and Brian is letting his bride teach him sailing. Smart couple. We wish them a long life of love, health and happiness.

Containing health costs

Editor:

There is an alternative to the Hillary Rodham Clinton tax increase health plan. It's called the Medical Cost Containment Act. It has 100 co-sponsors.

You will be able to choose your doctor. You will not have to wait in line for months for surgery. It will cost much less than the Hillary plan. You will get money back at the end of the year.

Do you want to control health costs or do you want the government to do it for you?

Call your congressmen and senators today!

Navy loss no loss at all

Editor:

Judging from the articles and letters I've read in this and other Lake County publications, I must assume that Great Lakes is as important to U.S. national security as the Pentagon, Ft. Bragg, Camp Lejeune and Cheyenne Mountain. I beg to differ. While the closing of Great Lakes would most certainly be an economic loss, our national security will not be endangered.

Great Lakes falls under the category of pork. Complaints about our senators and representatives not doing enough to keep Great Lakes open are ludicrous. For once they are doing their job. U.S. defense policy should not be made according to how many jobs will be lost in Lake County, but on whether Great Lakes is necessary to national security.

Down-size payroll

Hold on to your wallets folks. The mother of all tax increases is about to drop on the innocent, unsuspecting and vulnerable Dist. 117 homeowners. Antioch Community High School is (Continued on next page) requesting the district homeowners to cough up funds for a tax increase.

Thirty-six cents doesn't sound like much until it is mathematically calculated---$360 a year on a home valued at $100,000. That's forever.

It is said you can't escape death and taxes, but this tax you can escape by voting no. This tax increase would go directly to salaries and benefits being negotiated for 1993-94. Instead of cutting salaries by 10% was done in California, the board chooses to raise taxes. As fast as the board receives money, they mismanage it on salaries instead of education.

What should be done immediately is send out Reduction in Force notices to down-size the bloated payroll.

Smokers want rights

Editor:

We do not deny that some people are allergic to tobacco smoke and a lot of others think they are. We don't even object to reasonable restriction on smoking.

We do object to being told we cannot go into public buildings because we have been told we are second class citizens. This could be changed with the simple addition of an exhaust fan. Then our rights would not longer be denied.

Higher taxes on cigarets discriminated against those of us on a fixed income as we are now given a choice of enjoying ourselves, eating or medical care.

It's OK to pollute

Editor:

It has come to my attention that in Illinois, industries are able to get away with polluting our water! Our laws are written so that if industry pollutes the water, the sewage treatment plant is the one responsible for proving who is at fault and their subsequent prosecution (the ultimate financial and health burden falls on the local taxpayers).

In other states, the state EPA would monitor potential polluters, regulate their emissions and then fine the offenders. This seems to be a more powerful and reasonable way to deal with polluters. The way it stands now large industries are getting away with murder.

As an ex-employee of a large pharmaceutical company in Lake County, I am aware that they are polluters of our waters. When they decide to dump pollutants onto the North Shore Sanitation district, it not only causes trouble for the plant, but the plant is not equipped to handle chemicals and therefore the chemicals get dumped into the Des Plaines River. The river is already badly polluted and it is drinking water for people in other states. This is a crime and needs to be stopped.

We need to have strong federal and local laws and stronger enforcement policies in order to protect the people of our county and our country!

Can't avoid taxes

Editor:

Next time you hear a Vernon Hills trustee boasting about the millions of surplus in the bank without burdening the residents with a municipal tax, ask that person about the following taxes:

1. 5% on cable tv bill.
2. 4% on movie tickets.
3. 5.15% on electric bill.
4. 5.15% on gas heating bill.
5. $5 for vehicle stickers.
6. Permit fees for improvements.

At a board meeting in February, Trustee Don Hook stated, "We haven't tapped all the revenue sources available yet." Sounds like more taxes. In my case, the "non-taxes in Vernon Hills" equate to a .206 property tax rate. It's not on my property tax bill, but I still have to pay it.

Tom Wahl and Bill Wolfe (editor's note: village board candidates) are on the right track. A change is in order. Wahl estimated his taxes to the village at $180 per year. While that may seem a small amount to some, I view it as three free months of cable tv or $16,000 at retirement.

Union not at fault

Editor:

The Education Assn. of Round Lake has, once gain, been blamed by the media and school board for problems that exist due to the lack of prudent behavior by the board. Board president Hubka, even though he is a union member himself, needs to be reminded that grievances are filed because a violation of the contract has occurred.

No contract violation---no grievance. How then, does it become the fault of the union that the freshman baseball and softball teams may have the rug pulled out from under them by the school board?

Blame must be placed on the people that created the problem. The union did not instruct the administration to violate the contract by attempting to get people to volunteer for jobs that are contractual positions. The union did not instruct the school board to break the mutually agreed upon contract at a public board meeting without first instructing its administrators to investigate and consult with the union.

to assure a mutual agreement. The union did not involve children to make promises before the proper procedures had been followed as it is unprofessional to do so. The people of the Round Lake community ought to be angry over the lack of prudent behavior by members of the board and certain administrators. The only people that will continue to benefit from the lack of foresight on their part are their lawyers.

How about political philosophy?

WHAT? NO POLITICS

No politics, promises Venita McConnell, about a Friday, March 26, meeting to form a new 8th Congressional Dist. men's and women's club. "We're stressing the philosophical," said the Wauconda Twp. political figure.

Congressman Phil Crane asked her to form the group. A similar effort for women-only in his old 12th Dist. fell by the wayside. Club members went into the work place.

The new club will meet three times a year. "Name" guest speakers with national stature will be the draw. "We'll have some heavy hitters," promises McConnell.

Those interested in this sort of thing are invited to show up at 7 p.m. Meet Crane, enjoy a cocktail or two and rub elbows with the political movers and shakers in this part of the county.

FOWL DEED

Residents of Round Lake Heights take their politics pretty seriously, too.

Complaints have been filed with the Lake County Election Comm. about the Party of the People slate in the April election. This is the ticket led by Terry Lumkin, AKA Mr. Richards Chicken.

It happened because Avon Twp. Clerk Cathy Lennon registered voters at a mid-March political rally for the ticket at Renwood County Club and at Lumkin's Round Lake Heights restaurant during Sunday breakfast. On both occasions there were signs promoting the slate.

County Clerk Linda Hess' office says this is a no-no.

OVERHEARD/SEEN

ANTIOCH—Township supervisor candidate Judy Martini thinks incumbent Jim Fields may be getting some manners. During a debate earlier this month before a group of seniors Fields made so many interruptions an exasperated Martini handed him the microphone and said: "Here, do you want to talk that badly?" This is better than the last time the two met on the campaign trail two years ago. During a League of Women Voters debate Fields reached over and unplugged Martini's mike.

ROUND LAKE BEACH—Campaign billboards on highway right of way show there is going to be a village election soon. There are huge signs for the mostly-incumbent Beach Best ticket headed by Mayor Carl Schrimpf, the Beach First slate led by Trustee William Beadle and the Reclaim the Beach party led by Ralph Davis. In other villages and another day the locations would be off limits.

GRAYSLAKE—Ray Lacroix just couldn't say no. This time it's as a write-in for trustee in the April election. He joins Valerie Rickert in trying to gain office in this elusive manner. Both were knocked off the ballot in February for not doing it by the rule book. Lacroix is a never-say-die guy. Last year and again in 1990 he ran for the County Board.

Gambling downside offsets perceived economic value

by KEVIN BENTON

There has been much debate on the riverboat casino and many questions left unanswered.

Anyone who has ever gone boating on the Chain is well aware of the condition of the Fox River in the location of Rte. 173.

The river in its present form is hardly able to handle the draft of a small run-about much less the draft and width of a large river boat.

What improvements are suggested for the river? What will be the cost of dredging and the removal of materials? What will be the impact to the river and surrounding wet lands? What improvements to the existing roads is the state prepared to do, to lessen the impact to local residents and at what cost to taxpayers? When these questions are considered, the present other towns compete for the same dollars.

Third, there is the moral issue that causes many people to object to gambling. This operation would alienate some people, causing them to leave the community.

Finally, a person has to look no farther than the Wisconsin dog tracks to get a barometer of the future. The dog tracks started off with a bang, but business is slowly dwindling as the novelty wears off. The end result will be the promoters of this side show will pack their bags, leaving a permanent blight on the landscape.

A possible solution would be to create new industrial areas, offering tax incentives and a willing and flexible government.

Good year-round jobs would be created for an intelligent and willing local workforce. The impact to the community would be negligible. It's understood that this is easier said than done. But we're considering the long haul versus the quick fix.

Editor's note: Kevin Benton follows current events and writes about issues. He is an avid boater. Benton is a resident of Vernon Hills and is self-employed as a carpenter-contractor.

Commentary

site does not seem the logical one.

Many people are looking to the riverboat to solve all local revenue problems, supplying jobs and providing additional tax base to local government. However, there are some serious downsides that need to be addressed.

The first issue is the increase in crime. Anyone who has ever gone to an off-track betting parlor knows that some of the people attracted to gambling are not the most savory. This will have a very negative affect on the quality of small town life.

Second, many towns are considering the option of having gambling in some form. What this means is that all jobs and revenues would be diminishing locally as

Outstanding Class

What criteria is used that enables nearly half of the student body of Grayslake High School to make the honor roll. Who's kidding whom?

From Bad To Worse

I sure hope things are cleared up at Antioch High School by the time my kids get there. From what I hear, things have gone from bad to worse with the new principal and superintendent. I think the choice to build a new school and fix up the old one is ridiculous. Out of the five choices, that was the worst solution and most expensive. Good luck passing the referendum. I voted in favor of the last two, but not this time.

Bad Move

My gripe is with political candidates who go into nursing homes and recruit incompetent patients to vote for them during the election.

One More For The Buffet

I live in the Round Lake area and I am proud of the way it's developing for all the residents. However, we do need an Old Country Buffet for families. They serve a menu that is attractive to all people. I want to see that come into Round Lake.

Signs Up; Signs Down

There are people out there, and they who know they are, who are pulling down certain political parties in Round Lake Beach. As I drove down the road, I saw a sign going up, but then at the same time, the person pulls down the opponent's sign. If they can't win honestly, why bother being in the race. We don't need to vote for people like this.

Thanks For Support

This is not a complaint. I would like to thank all the people who supported the Girl Scouts by buying cookies from them. If everyone supported the scouts, boys and girls, we would have a lot more kids off the streets. Scouting is fun. I'm from Ingleside.

Bad Move II

I live in Mundelein and I went to sectional basketball games at Stevenson. I'm upset about two things. Stevenson High School shouldn't ever be allowed to hold a sectional game again. The way they handled the entrance and exit was pathetic. It was worse than getting out of the Rosemont Horizon. The school's not equipped to handle this. It should be held elsewhere next year. My other problem has to do with all the articles that were printed about the security system. I feel that the principal out there had gotten himself in a hole for the situation and tried to dig himself out blaming it on a Mundelein student.

One More Question

Long Grove is currently putting together a survey to determine residents' opinions about the extension of Rte. 53. It would be good if Long Grove also put in that survey a question if Rte. 53 should go through or not. If the residents vote that Rte. 53 should be extended, the board should abide by the decision of the people, rather than waste their time on other efforts. It would be nice if the village board would work on this and add the question to the survey.

Home Alone III?

I'm calling to complain about mothers who leave their children home alone. A schoolmate of my 9-year-old child was too ill for school and was left home alone crying because her mother chose to work, rather than stay home. This poor child was in need of her mother's love, comfort and care. She was left with fear, emotional stress and little self worth. No amount of money is worth the pain that child endured that day.

Village Brawl Meeting?

I attended the Gurnee Village Board on March 15. They've got a wild bunch over there. I noticed one of the trustees attack a resident. What kind of government is that?

Right On Target!

Antioch officials, wake up and give us a store like Target. Target has been building new stores all over the place — Vernon Hills, Gurnee, etc. Round Lake Beach has big stores. Adjoining communities have big stores. What do we have here in Antioch? Nothing! Keep our money here. Don't make us drive to other communities to spend our money. Forget about those housing developments. Build something we would all utilize and appreciate.

When Will Teachers Teach?

I'm a parent of a Grass Lake Junior High School student. I just want to voice my opinion. The teachers went on strike, cut back their workload, got their raise, went back to work and they're still not teaching our children. Our children are suffering terribly. It's time these teachers got off their butts and do the job for which they are being paid.

Our Kids Come First

Based on an often-aired television commercial, some of my neighbors will contribute 70 cents a day to help feed and educate one child in Latin America. Yet, they won't vote on April 20 to support the Lake Villa library referendum that costs just 7 cents per day. Both are good causes, but shouldn't our kids come first.

You Call Those Gripes?

I'm what the government would call a "middle-class family" living in North Chicago. I've been reading the paper lately and I'm sick and tired of reading Antioch, Lake Villa, etc. griping about how much money they are paying for their schools. We paid property taxes every year for the past 10 years; now we're told our school district might dissolve. Lake Forest gets twice as money for their kids than we do, and we pay more taxes than they do. Why doesn't everybody just wake up?

Too Close For Comfort

Doesn't anyone care what happens in their community? The expansion of Campbell Airport would create more noise and danger to the people in this fast-growing area. (Continued on page 32)

Mill Creek Nursery: Keeps open space dream alive

It doesn't take long to hear the sounds in the background.

Zoom. Zoom. Zoom.

The cars sound, heading north to Wisconsin on I-94. But closing one's eyes, one can see a more pristine time. One in which tee-pees dominated the land and Illinois was truly full of prairies.

The land in question is 40 acres lying south of Route 173 in unincorporated Newport Twp. It is presently Mill Creek Nursery, and while development has approached one of its borders, landscaper Mike Greco and architect Jim Belli believe the land has a destiny.

by STEVE PETERSON
Lakeland Newspapers

"It is our dream for this land to be the last stretch of open space in Lake County," Greco said during a tour last week.

The land's history goes back to the 1840s when Peter Cassidy purchased it from the Federal Government for $1.25 an acre.

During its heyday, the land was used as a small dairy farm, when Lake County was known more for cows than planned unit developments.

Greco and Belli came together shortly after Belli took over managing the land in 1989. They noticed a "for sale" sign on Jan. 7, 1989 and the Realtor, Cackovic, was then called.

"I was helped by more people than you could imagine," Belli said. "They kept photos and the front 10 acres were all overrun by box Elder bugs. We used eight dumpsters to haul the debris," Belli said.

Belli said the present resident, Freda Ray, sold the land, but Ray suggested it remain agricultural.

"I think it could be the last open land in Lake County, with the Wadsworth post office coming in at Routes 173 and 41 and Abbott Laboratories purchasing land off Route 173. The best neighbor I have had has been Hunt Club Farms," Belli said.

Erosion is a constant battle and is controlled by sowing winter wheat in-between the nursery row. The wheat is then tilled into the ground in late spring.

The nursery is monitored throughout the year by nurserymen from as far away as Portland, Ore., to observe the many dif-

Abbott Laboratories helps state acquire older autos

Abbott Laboratories Chairman and Chief Executive Officer Duane Burnham along with Mary Gade, director of the Illinois Environmental Protection Agency announced Abbott's support of the agency's "Cash for Clunkers" pilot project. Last year, an Abbott donation to the project was used to purchase older model automobiles that emit high levels of pollutants.

Under the project, cars manufactured before 1980 were purchased from Chicago-area motorists and taken off the streets where they contribute to pollution. After the IEPA purchased the cars, they were towed to a scrap yard where they were crushed for resale as used metal. Batteries, oil, gas, antifreeze, air-conditioning fluid, and tires were removed and recycled, or disposed of in an environmentally safe manner. A total of 207 cars that emit high levels of pollutants were removed last year from area roads as a result of the project.

According to IEPA statistics, cars that are at least 12 years old represent less than 10 percent of all automobiles in the Chicago area, but emit 10 times more pollutants than newer cars.

"The Chicago area is one of eight US regions classified as having a severe ozone problem. That's why we develop innovative projects like Cash for Clunkers to help alleviate the region's air quality problem," said Gade. "We appreciate the support that environmentally conscious companies like Abbott gave this project. In total, Abbott and other corporate sponsors helped us remove 207 older model vehicles from Chicago area roads last year," she added.

Abbott Laboratories Chairman and Chief Executive Officer Duane Burnham along with Mary Gade, director of the Illinois Environmental Protection Agency (IEPA), announced Abbott's support of the agency's "Cash for Clunkers" pilot project.

US Cable begins installation of new fiber optic cable

US Cable is now installing the numerous miles of fiber optic cable necessary to drastically improve the cable signal in its Lake County service areas. The fiber optic cable, according to US Cable officials, will eliminate the rain fade experienced by many cable subscribers during a heavy rain or snowstorm. "Customers won't notice anything different in their cable signal until a storm hits," said Jim Emrick, the chief engineer at US Cable. "But, then they will notice that the grainy picture or fading of the signal is missing."

ferent varieties of plants and also to observe the plants grown from tissue culture.

"Time is our true test," Greco said.

"We bring in Japanese Red Maples, Cameos Supaious, Chamacyparis that are sensitive to the area and have to be protected. Most of our plants are hardy for the growing zone like Oaks, Burr Oaks and buckthorns plants that are indigenous to the area," Greco said.

The goal of the nursery is to eradicate the trees which are not native to the area, replacing them with one that are. Mill Creek Nursery operates as a wholesaler. Shrubs, trees and ornamentals are listed in the wholesale catalog. Some of the plants one sees on the newest subdivisions are originally from the farm. Trees are protected from the many deer which call the land home, deer which hook their horns into the trees.

"We do a lot of work with homeowners along the north shore and in Gurnee in the Gurnee Mills area. There are five-acre homesites there. As more houses are built, there will be more of a need for landscaping," Greco said.

While some landscapers bring in less expensive plants which do not last, Greco prefers to have locally grown stock.

Trees are brought in from Oregon, but that is the same growing zone as Lake County. "They are brought in bare root in refrigerated cars," Greco said.

The first part of April is traditionally the time for arrival of springtime plants. These include Weeping White Pine, Norway Spruce and more.

No matter what time of the year, Freda Mayer Knox's daughter is at the nursery as she lives on the farm her mother brought on May 29, 1907.

Freda Ray is a "sharp as I hope to be when I am 50 years-old," Belli said. A former teacher at the Mill Creek School down the unpaved Mill Creek Road, she was the grand marshal in last year's Family Fun Fest parade in Wadsworth.

Speaking of the Village of Country Living, that is not a good subject to bring up to the Bellis. "They asked us to annex, but there were too many restrictions," Belli said.

"I would like to build a home on the land someday for myself," Belli said.

Maybe by then, the 40 acres' value will be realized fully by the rest of Lake County.

Round Lake resident, Jim Donahoe of AJ's Premier Printing Company received a "Commitment to Caring Award" from George Martin, CEO of Concerned Care Inc., a Skokie-based home nursing service, for his five years of superior printing services.

Middle class now offered low cost home mortgages

Success National Bank in Lincolnshire has introduced a new mortgage product targeted directly at the working classes.

The mortgage relief plan offers a fixed rate of 7 percent on a 15-year mortgage and is available to people who have a combined household income of less than $60,000 a year. A 30 year mortgage is available at 8 percent. No points are charged with either mortgage and the processing fees are a flat $495.

Success National President Saul

Binder said he developed the special low rate plan because he wanted to help boost economic recovery.

"It's time somebody did something for the forgotten people who really make this country go," said Binder. "The wealthy are always getting special deals."

The plan is available throughout Lake County and loans require a 20 percent down payment. To learn more about the mortgage plan, call 634-4200 for more information.

New floor plans meet buyer demands

Cambridge Homes has introduced two new floor plans at Cambridge Country-side, its community of luxury single-family homes in Mundelein.

The new plans at Cambridge Country-side have been designed in response to popular demand, according to the builder. Each plan is targeted to meet the unique lifestyle needs of different buyers including families with children, and people who prefer the convenience of single-level living in a two story home.

"We wanted to add to our line of single family homes at Cambridge Country-side because we've had such a wide variety of buyers there," said Richard J. Brown, president of Cambridge Homes. "About the only thing most of them have in common is that it has been their second or third home. The new plans were created not only to add variety to our line of homes, but to provide buyers with specific features that they have told us they would like."

Your salary—Your biggest asset

by NICK BROWN

Several years of recession have proven once again without question that your biggest asset is salary or earnings from your job.

Investment real estate values have fallen, cash flows from those investments have stopped, the stock market has gyrated wildly, bond investment yields have plummeted. The one underpinning of your entire lifestyle hopefully has continued—the salary from your job.

Investment experience these last few years has shown limited partnerships become valueless, stocks drop their dividends, and other outside income become meaningless. Meanwhile, that foundation of the family lifestyle that pays the mortgage, auto expenses, college tuition, and all those things we took for granted as ordinary expenses in the eighties continued as usual.

The layoffs, mergers, acquisitions, and disclosures proved to some Americans that the salary from their jobs was something that couldn't be taken for granted. The steady cash flow week by week minus the federal withholding taxes, social security, and other deductions was the life blood of the good life and those things are expectations we all have.

As we go into the nineties with treasury yields on short term bonds and bills in the 2 percent to 4 percent range, certificates of deposit (CDs) about the same, and expectations being steadily lowered, it is more important than ever to secure this salary for you and your family. The security for this salary in the event of your permanent disability due to sickness or accident is disability insurance which can be obtained from several sources.

This Way to Wealth

Disability insurance. Your employer may provide some basic group long term disability insurance. This provides some protection for a portion of your income but if you should lose your job or your company goes out of business many people have painfully found that this type of coverage cannot be continued and is lost for the future.

To supplement this group coverage, or in some cases replace it, most executives choose an individual form of permanent disability coverage. An individual policy is one that cannot be canceled by an employer and is portable no matter where you should work. This coverage provides a steady stream of income to your family in the event of total and permanent disability or even partial disability which is not covered by group insurance policies. Financial permanence

There are few things in our financial future that we can know for certain. A non-cancelable guaranteed renewable disability policy is one of the very few protections which we know that is taken out now will be the same many years into the future. The insurance company provides you with the right to renew this policy if the premium is paid. Its non-cancelable right gives this coverage permanence in your overall financial picture.

Choose the company first and check its financial ratings. This should be one in the top two or three classes in the ratings of Moody's, Duff and Phelps, and Standard and Poors.

Then analyze the contractual provisions between similar stable insurance companies and choose the one that is best for you. Approach the employer and ask him to replace his group coverage with individual policies that will provide you with additional security.

The balance of the 1990s will provide financial challenges and hurdles for everyone, for the business owner, corporate executive, doctors, lawyers, and every working man or woman.

No matter what the future may bring with your investments or government policies, the one beam of security for your family will be continued income from your job or a dependable disability income policy in the event of sickness or accident. Be sure to investigate this area right now while you are still in good health and make the protection for your job income as permanent and indestructible as possible.

Editor's note: Nick J. Brown, president of the Planning Group, Glenview, and a financial planning consulting firm. Questions are invited by writing to This Way To Wealth, 2203B Lakeside Dr., Bannockburn, IL 60015.

Tax tales offer valuable lessons

To avoid being an April fool this tax season, the Illinois CPA Society urges all to take note of these tax stories.

IRS doesn't pay for housekeeping

The pressures of working and raising children doesn't allow you to claim a tax deduction for hiring someone to clean your home. Brian and Suzanne Knutson, who both work full time, learned this during appearances before the Tax Court.

Brian, an accountant, and Suzanne, a teacher, have three children. They contracted with a cleaning service to have their home cleaned on a weekly basis and included their payments to the cleaning service in computing the child care credit on their tax return.

The IRS disallowed the credit to the extent that it was based on payments to the cleaning service. That's because qualified child care expenses are limited to those that enable parents to be gainfully employed. Although Brian testified that he and his wife were too busy with the children, their jobs, and household improvement projects to clean the house, the Tax Court sided with the IRS. The housekeeping expenses did not enable these taxpayers to be gainfully employed, but merely made their lives easier. (Brian Knutson, TC Memo 1990-440)

Recordkeeping helps cocktail waitress ward off IRS

Suspecting that staff at an Atlantic City casino were not reporting tip income, the IRS watched cocktail servers from 1980 through 1990 and developed statistics on average tip income. It then used these statistics to pursue possible tax evaders. One person the IRS tried to ensnare was Judith Krause, a cocktail waitress who reported $6,473 in tips for one tax year. Using its statistics as a guide, the IRS claimed that she failed to report $5,852 of additional tip income.

Krause fought the IRS. Her defense? A daily log of tips that she regularly submitted to her employer. The Tax Court ruled that her records more accurately reflected her income than the IRS statistics, and the IRS claim against her was dismissed.

Easing Your Tax Burden

When all normal channels fail, try PRP program

Sometimes, no matter how hard the IRS strives to provide fast, courteous, and quality service to every one of you, the IRS messes up.

Despite their best efforts to lessen the burden of tax filing, a few of you slip through the cracks and end up completely entangled in what the IRS perceives as "red tape." On the bright side, when these unfortunate situations arise, the IRS has a giant pair of scissors to snip through that "red tape." They call these scissors the Problem Resolution Program (PRP).

The program steps in when you have tried your best to solve your own problem through all the normal channels available to you, and have failed.

Cases come to the Problem Resolution Office for a number of reasons, some simply because of a lack of communications or because there is a "glitch" in the system. Still others originate because IRS employees have failed to do what they said they would do, such as telling a taxpayer they would get an answer in 30 days, and three months later the customer is still waiting.

The PRP program was expanded when the Taxpayer Bill of Rights went into effect on January 1, 1989. This gives the Problem Resolution Officer the authority to issue a Taxpayer Assistance Order (TAO) when it is determined that a taxpayer is suffering or about to suffer a significant hardship as a result of how we handle their case. The TAO Program helps address these situations by establishing procedures to suspend action and review the account in order to relieve unintended results where possible. In other situations, hardship may result unless immediate action is taken by the Service (e.g., the processing of a claim or the issuance of a manual refund).

The TAO Program is not intended to circumvent provisions of the Internal Revenue Code, even though the application of the code results in hardship. Enforcement action, in and of itself, is not a hardship without additional factors affecting the taxpayer.

Form 911, "Application for Taxpayer Assistance Order to Relieve Hardship," is used to document hardship situations that require immediate review by PRP. During the review, all enforcement actions are suspended. You can ask PRP to intervene in a hardship situation by completing and submitting a Form 911 or by letter.

There are two steps you should take if you are having a problem. First, call the taxpayer service information number, (312)435-1040, to try and get the problem resolved through normal channels. Second, get a copy of the IRS Publication One, "Your Rights As A Taxpayer." Call toll-free 1(800)829-3676 to have a copy of this publication or Form 911 mailed to you.

If you believe that your problem warrants action by PRP, call the tax information line and ask to have your case referred to Problem Resolution.

Please have all the information available when you call so the person taking the information will be able to provide our PRP office with full details.

That's Mers Restaurant on the shores of Bangs Lake in Wauconda. The Mers took over the landmark building — at one time a stage coach stop — 35 years ago. Ever since then, it's been the place for friendly, family dining.

Mers' dining room accommodates 225 people, while its banquet room seats 135. The huge cocktail lounge is another place to eat, drink and enjoy the water.

As you might guess, Mers is big on seafood. The all-you-can-eat fish offering on Fridays is a tradition. For just $5.95, it's fish — breaded for each order — cole slaw, french fries and a mini-loaf of bread.

Dinner-time fresh fish specials have been stepped up for the Lent season. Dinners come complete with soup and salad bar.

The Sunday brunch buffet is quickly becoming a tradition as well. Omelets are made to order by Chef Kelly, over 10 hot breakfast selections are laid out, and a pastry table and salad bar are waiting. All for $8.95 for adults and $5.95 for kids from 10 a.m. to 2 p.m.

Mers is also noted for its prime rib and barbecue ribs. In fact, the restaurant had the best ribs around according to a 1990 North Shore Magazine article.

Rosemary Mers and Bob Mers Jr. are your hosts.

Mers is open every day except Tuesday. Lunch hours during the week and Saturday are 11:30 a.m. to 2:30 p.m., while dinner hours are 4:30 to 10. The Sunday schedule is 10 a.m. to 8 p.m. Call 526-6905.

Inspiring dancers to reach for the stars

Whether they aspire towards the jazzy techniques of Paula Abdul, the artistic heights of Pavlova, or they just want to have some fun, students have been flocking to the Round Lake Park District's dance program since its inception in 1975.

by CLAUDIA M. LENART

"We start them at 3 1/2 and give them a solid foundation," said Heather Molinari, program supervisor. "For ones that show talent and want to continue, we have teachers who qualify to dance at an advanced level. As little children we want them to come out of it loving it. That's our main goal."

The Round Lake Park District dance program is the largest park district program north of Route 176 in Lake County. There are about 230 students currently enrolled in dance classes which include, tap, jazz, ballet and creative movement. But quantity isn't the only factor here.

"It's an excellent program and I'm not just saying that because I work here," said Vince Castellanoz, park director. "As far as quality of program, you're getting the same type of quality in Round Lake as you would get on the North Shore."

Molinari has been with the program almost since its beginning. Upon moving to the Round Lake area, British-born Molinari started as a student of the first dance teacher Kathy Wolf.

"I always danced as a child, then I stopped dancing for awhile. I started at the park because I thought it would be fun. I never dreamed I would be doing what I'm doing now," said Molinari.

As the program began to grow, Wolf asked Molinari to be her assistant. Now, as program supervisor, Molinari is responsible for all cultural arts programs at the district.

Of the nine dance teachers at the district, four were former students at the district.

"We have wonderful teachers. They all carry out that philosophy of making it fun," said Molinari.

Not only are the teachers having fun with dance, they are also inspiring students.

Sommer Meze, a senior at Grant High School, started dancing at the park district when she was three. She has plans to enroll in Barat College's dance program after a foot injury heals and to forge a career in dance.

"When I was a little girl, (Molinari) gave me a lot of inspiration. She opened my eyes to a totally different world, to how to express myself with movement," said Meze.

Later, Meze went through a stage when her friends thought dancing wasn't "cool" and she almost quit, but because of her mother's insistence, she stuck with it.

Meze is now a student of Donna Pedersen. "She is the reason why I want to major in dance," said Meze. "She's so inspirational. She's a great teacher and I love her to death."

But even those students who don't go as far with the program as Meze, can benefit from dance lessons.

'Science on Saturday' at the Power House

The first of a new series of free, science/energy programs, "Science on Saturday," begins March 27 at the Power House in Zion.

"The Energy Game," an original play employs music, comedy and audience participation to teach visitors how to use energy wisely. The 40-minute play will be presented at 11 a.m., 12:30 p.m., 2 p.m. and 3:30 p.m. in the Power House Theater.

In addition, members of Commonwealth Edison's Energy Services Department will be on-site to offer advice on how to save energy in the home.

The program will be held one Saturday each month through May. For more information call 746-7080. The Power House is located on the shores of Lake Michigan a few miles north of Illinois Beach State Park. It is fully accessible to disabled visitors and is open to the public, free of charge, Tuesday through Saturdays from 10 a.m. to 5 p.m.

Pets take stage

An event pet owners and animal fanciers of all ages won't want to miss is scheduled for March 27 and 28 at Arlington International Racecourse, Arlington Heights. The Chicagoland Pet Show promises to offer attractions for the whole family, including a petting zoo, pony rides for the little ones, trained performing cats and action-packed Olympics-style canine competition.

Finicky Morris, the world's most famous cat, will graciously give "pawtographs" both days at noon, 2 and 4 p.m.

Skupa and his friends Lotto, Valentine and Victoria, will perform amazing tricks under the expert direction of trainer and author George Ney.

Over 150 exhibitors are expected to be available to answer pet owner's questions and distribute samples of food and other pet-related items. Show visitors can register to win the grand prize, a trip for two on American Airlines.

Showtimes are 10 a.m. to 6 p.m. both days. Adults admission is $6, children over age 6 are $2. For more information call Tower Show Productions at 469-4611.

Beauty and the Beast on ice

The newest edition of Walt Disney's World on Ice, brings the story of Beauty and the Beast to life on ice for the first-time ever. The production closely follows the Disney film version, incorporating the winning score and the original group of character voices.

The production will be staged at Milwaukee's Bradley Center, now through March 28. Tickets are $8.50 or $11.50 for all seats.

Showtimes are: March 25-10:30 a.m. and 7:30 p.m.; March 26— 4 p.m. and 7:30 p.m.; March 27— 11 a.m., 3 p.m. and 7:30 p.m. and March 28— noon, 3:30 p.m. and 7:30 p.m.

Tickets are available through Ticketmaster in Milwaukee (414) 276-4545.

North Shore Cat club presents 42nd show

The North Shore Cat Club will present its 42nd annual Cat Show, April 3 and 4 at the Holiday Inn (Rte. 83 between Rte. 60 and Rte. 45) in Mundelein. Show times are 10 a.m. and 4 p.m. Admission is $4 for adults, $3 for senior citizens and $1 for children under the age of 12. Two hundred of the world's most beautiful cats will be shown.

Sealed with a kiss

From April 3 through Aug. 29, Chicago Children's Museum will present its newest exhibit, Sealed with a Kiss: Mail Art, sponsored by the United Parcel Service Foundation.

S.W.A.K.: Mail Art is a highly interactive exhibit of fanciful art that redefines the everyday act of mailing a bill or sending a letter to a friend. Mail Art is art that has been post-marked; it is correspondence designed to please the eye as well as the mind. There are thousands of artists worldwide who create art out of and on spaces as little as nineteen cent postcards or a letter size envelope—and then send it to someone through the mail.

Design stations in the exhibit will offer paper, paint, rubber stamp images, markers, copy machine art and found objects to all who wish to try their hand at creating their own masterpiece to mail to a special pen pal. In addition, young artists will be able to commemorate important individuals or events in their own lives by designing and then making their own stamps. Also on display in this section will be winning entries from the Illinois Department of Conservation's Junior Duck Stamp Contest.

Chicago Children's Museum is dedicated to the needs and interests of children and their families. Located at 465 E. Illinois Street in North Pier Chicago, 2nd Floor. For more information, call (312) 527-1000.—by RHONDA VINZANT

Horoscope

ARIES (March 21-April 19) Your roar into this week. Play money wizard and act like the communications satellite, Telstar, as well. Your efficiency cannot be doubted, nor can your enjoyment of the good life. Plan on ripping up the city this weekend.

TAURUS (April 20-May 20) You may keep your agenda hidden from most of the world this week. However, once you decide to take a direct action, there will be no turning back. Count on entering the weekend on a high note and feeling very, very good.

GEMINI (May 21-June 20) Go for exactly what it is that makes you heart flutter and your mind abandon the present. This week, you are very likely to make long-term desires happen. Now don't think that this is going to be a snap. It'll take some work.

CANCER (June 21-July 22) Whether you want to or not, you get to take a major stand this week. The best part of all is, you get much applause from your closest friends and supporters. Make plenty of time for group activities. You love being with the gang until exhaustion hits.

LEO (July 23-August 22) Be an explorer this week and let that adventurous Lion out. You come up with some interesting information and ideas. You are super involved with your image normally, and right now that fussing and grooming pays off.

VIRGO (August 23-September 22) Think carefully before you open up your mouth and insert your foot. Talks could be rather fragile right now, and another could be overly sensitive. Negotiate what you want money-wise. Admiration can be the beginning of deeper feelings.

LIBRA (September 23-October 22) Others seek you out all week long. Count on being euphoric and happy as long as you stay cool. Money matters are up for debate. See what is being offered before you make any declarations. Plan on a mini-vacation this weekend.

SCORPIO (October 23-November 21) You are up for work this week, and just as well, because you cruise through everything you need to. Be ready for some spontaneous invitations, as your popularity peaks. You are presented with many choices.

SAGITTARIUS (November 22-December 21) Bring some of last weekend's fun spirit with you into this week. Be careful, however, not to overdo or go to extremes and turn a mild case of spring fever into something more serious. Expect a wild few days this weekend.

CAPRICORN (December 22-January 19) Understanding what is important to you is primary. Just hang out with the space and move with an opportunity. Expect another to tease and tantalize. For some reason, you have a lot of work to catch up on this weekend.

AQUARIUS (January 20-February 18) You can't seem to get away from it all. Calls come in, others seek you out and demands are placed on you left and right. The great news is you handle it all, and easily at that. Do insist on getting your rest, however.

PISCES (February 19-March 20) You are more than aware of what you offer and how much others care. You get testimony to this fact even more so this week. Plan on some extra cash for whooping it up during the week. You know how to make the most of an opportunity when it strikes.

Fun fundraiser

A bowling fundraiser will be held at Kristof's Entertainment Center, 321 W. Rollins Rd., Round Lake Beach at 7 p.m., Monday, March 29. The purpose is to raise funds to take Geoffrey Miller, Jr. to Mayo Clinic. About two-and-a-half years ago, Miller was diagnosed as having a rare disease called Russell-Silver Syndrome. This disease affects only about 200 children in the world. He has been through numerous tests and surgeries.

Central States Collie Club

The Central States Collie Club, Inc. will hold their Annual Spring Specialty Show, Puppy Sweepstakes and Obedience Trial on Saturday, April 17 at the Lake County Fairgrounds. The show will be held indoors and admission and parking are free with food available for purchase. Participants and observers are invited. Entries close March 31. For additional information or entry forms, call Marlene at 351-4627.

Astronomy session, bird walk

Join volunteer astronomer Richard Wend on Friday, March 26 at 7:30 p.m. at the Volo Bog for a close look at constellations, planets and other astronomical wonders. Dress for the weather and bring binoculars and reclining lawn chairs. Ages five to adult are welcome, no reservations are required. On Saturday, March 27, go on a guided bird walk at 9 a.m. Join Mary Schwartz in search of wood ducks, sandhill cranes, killdeer, flickers, bluebirds, meadowlarks and others that have returned from their winter homes. Bring binoculars and field guides if you have them. Ages seven to adult are welcome. Reservations are required. Phone (815)344-1294.

Comedy bus heads for Zanies

There will be a Comedy Beer Bus to Zanies Comedy Club April 1, sponsored by the Comedy Connection, Kempf's Resort and D&G's.

The bus will pick up passengers at 7:20 p.m. at Kempf's, 25344 W. Richmond, Antioch, and at 7:40 p.m. at D&G's, 896 Main, Antioch. Show time is 8:30 p.m.

The cost is $10 per person which includes beer on the bus. There is a two-drink minimum at Zanies. Return from the club will be at about 11 p.m.

For more information call Kempf's, 395-2484 or D&G's, 838-0253.

The Comedy Connection also sponsors shows at Frigate's in Ingleside every Saturday night. On March 27, Tim Cavanaugh will headline. For more information call 587-3211.

How To Write A Bestseller.

Give the reader all the specifics.

Pretend you are someone reading the classifieds. What would you like to know about the item, service or job you are advertising? Be sure to add details such as:

- color • size • condition
- brand name • age
- features • and benefits

Be accurate! Don't embellish your ad with misleading information. Stick to the facts.

Include the price.

Don't waste your time or a potential buyer's time. If you advertise the price of the item or service you offer, the people who respond to your ad will be those who are genuinely interested. Surveys show that readers are more interested in those items and services they know are within their price range.

Avoid Abbreviations.

Don't make a potential customer work too hard! Although you may be tempted to cut down on the cost of your ad by using abbreviations, surveys indicate that many people don't understand such abbreviations as EIK (eat-in-kitchen) or WSW tires (white side wall) and won't take the time to figure them out.

Include phone number & hours.

Let potential customers know when and where to call. Surveys show that even if a person is very interested in your item or service, he or she will not call back after the first attempt. Stay near the phone during the hours you indicate you will be available. Don't risk missing a sale!

Run consecutive weeks.

Your ad will not get results if people don't see it! Therefore, it is important to set up a consistent and consecutive ad schedule with your sales representative. Run your ad for at least two weeks.

The Lakeland Newspapers friendly classified advertising representatives are happy to assist you with your ad over the phone. They even assist you with writing your ad. Just call (708) 223-8161 to place your classified ad. Representatives will help you with your ad by phone Monday thru Thursday, 8 am to 8 pm and Saturdays 8:30 am to 2 pm. You can also place your ad in person at:

Dance

Molinari said dance instruction teaches children to appreciate rhythm and to respond to direction. It also improves coordination and self-esteem.

The highlight of the dance program is the annual spring show. Molinari said originally, the dancers would perform full-length ballets such as "the Nutcracker" or "Swan Lake."

Now, the dance shows are set up as variety shows which allows a diversity of dancing styles. Molinari said almost all the students perform in the show.

This year's show, "The 1993 Show of Stars" will be performed on May 21 and May 22. It will include a special performance by the dance teachers which will be dedicated to Molinari's mom who is flying in from England.

This show will be Molinari's 16th, but it will be the first her mother will see. "It will be a total surprise," said Molinari. Shhh...

Will Rogers wit alive and well in 'Follies'

Critic's Choice Oklahoma-born humorist Will Rogers (1879-1935), touched millions of Americans with his direct but shy, plain-speaking demeanor through his appearances on stage and radio, in movies and a syndicated newspaper column.

His homespun humor, wholesome philosophy and spirited political gibes are getting a fresh revival at the Shubert Theater in a sparkling musical directed and choreographed by Tommy Tune, "The Will Rogers Follies: A Life in Revue."

The musical takes place as part of the Florence Ziegfeld Follies. Keith Carradine plays the low-key, rope-twirling humorist and Dee Hoty, his bride.

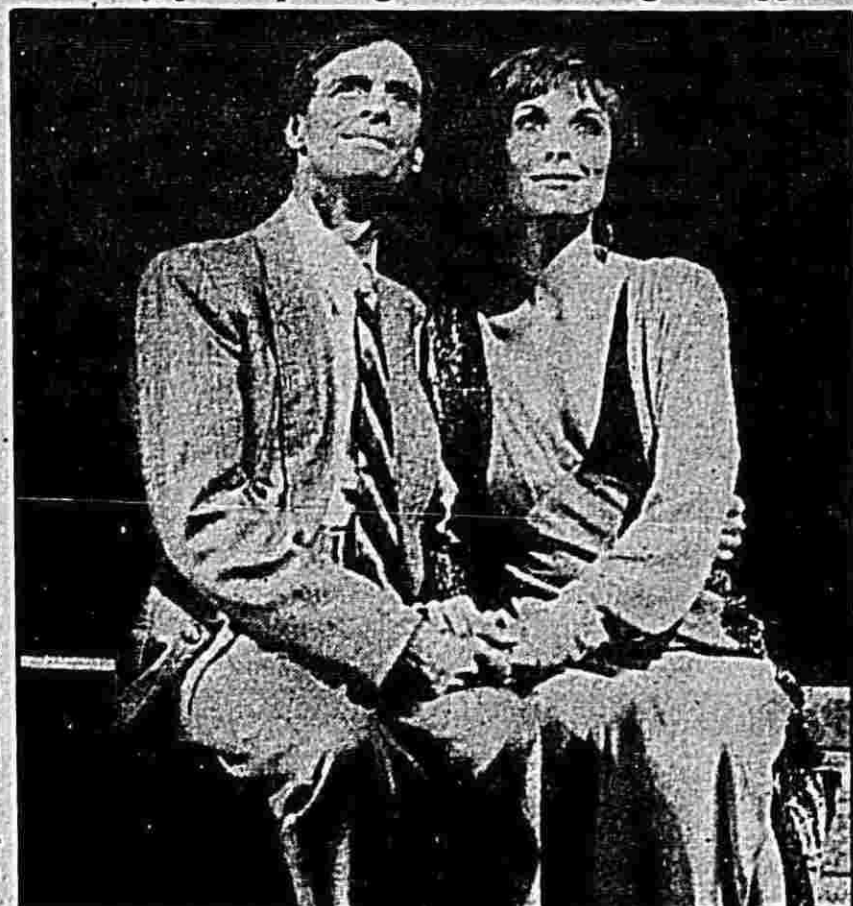

Carradine palaver includes much of Rogers' enduring witticisms ("The trouble with land: They're just not making it anymore" and "All I know is what I see in the papers").

Alone, they hold a certain appeal. But in this production, a plethora of songs, with lyrics by Betty Comden and Adolph Green, further spread the Rogers wit: "Give a Man Enough Rope" to "Never Met a Man I Didn't Like."

Yet "The Will Rogers Follies" doesn't stop with the verbal and musical elements. This is a big production with lots of leggy showgirls in fanciful costuming, a cute dog act, the Will Rogers "children" and a lariat expert (Thomas Garcilazo).

Tune saves the best for last, when Carradine shares poignant commentary on Will Rogers' obituaries as they are flashed on a movie theater-sized screen.

"The Will Rogers Follies" runs through April 17; ticket information is available at (312)902-1500.—by TOM WITOM

'Mad Dog' full of glory!

Bill Murray is suddenly on every screen, and with two worthwhile efforts to boot. His Frank Capra-ish "Groundhog Day," is being hailed by critics and audiences alike.

Now he does a switch by playing the heavy in "Mad Dog and Glory."

Robert DeNiro, one of our finest and most versatile actors, vies with Murray for acting honors and we call a tie in this case.

The characters played by the three stars of this film, including Uma Thurman, the woman they fight over, are all greatly in need of psychotherapy.

In DeNiro we have a frustrated artist who earns his living as a cop who likes to take pictures of sanguine murder scenes. The latter is in direct conflict with his outward quiet and gentle nature.

Murray plays a mobster who relieves his frustrations by playing with the stand-up comic routine.

When DeNiro saves Murray's life during a hold-up, the mobster sends him Uma Thurman, a troubled barmaid, "to be his friend for a week."

Everything hits the fan when the withdrawn DeNiro falls for Thurman of whom Murray says "I own her!"

Barrington Lyric's 'Ringing in Wagner'

Program Chairman Judith Meils, Barrington Hills, invites members and guests of the Barrington Chapter of Lyric Opera of Chicago to enjoy an evening of exploration into the Wagner phenomenon, his vast influence on the history of all the arts, not just music and opera. The program, "Ringing in Wagner," will begin at 8 p.m. on Friday, April 16 at the Inverness Country Club.

Wagnerian expert Art Clifton, founder and president of the Wagner Society of America, an international arts organization, has studied and researched Wagner privately for over 25 years. He has lectured, edited a national newsletter, organized concerts, recitals and seminars, moderated radio broadcast panel discussions, and has authored articles and reviews. He has just completed his first book, a musically annotated edition of "Das Rheingold."

Clifton's presentation will feature singers from Northwestern: Soprano Patricia Ludvigson and tenor Wolfgang Oeste, who will be accompanied on the piano by Northwestern's head of the School of Music, Frederick Ockwell. They will offer selections from Act I of "Die Walkure." Also included will be musical examples played from a specially prepared audiotape. Clifton's infectious enthusiasm for the subject of Wagner encourages questions from the audience, which he heartily welcomes.

Following the program, another luscious dessert buffet will be presented by Linelle Delk-Jacobs, assisted by Joy Simon, Lake Barrington Shores, and their committee.

Cost for members is $10, guests $15 (cash bar). Reservation checks must be received on or before April 12 by Delk-Jacobs, 99 Meadow Pl., Lake Barrington, Ill. 60010. Phone 382-4994.

For inquiries on the Barrington Chapter of Lyric Opera of Chicago, phone Sheila Nolan at 358-9080.

Cruising For The Ecology-Minded

by JIM WARNKEN, PRESIDENT
NORTH STAR TRAVEL, INC.

There are cruises dedicated solely to various individual ecological subjects. Besides being somewhat costly, their non-scholastic activities are limited. While this may suit some travelers with specialized interests just fine, many of us would prefer a less expensive conventional cruise, with all the activities offered on today's superliner, but still have the opportunity to experience the ecology of the Caribbean.

Just pick a cruise that stops at the right ports and then choose the right "Shore Excursions"!

If your ship stops at, or starts from, Puerto Rico, you have the opportunity to visit the only Rain Forest in the U.S. Forest Service. Known as "El Yunque", it's in the Puerto Rican mountains, about 32 miles east of San Juan. The 28,000 acre forest reaches an elevation of 3,526 ft. and has 240 species of trees of which only six are found in the continental United States. With an estimated 100 billion gallons of rain fall annually, it is indeed a Rain Forest.

The Island of St. John, the most secluded of the U.S. Virgin Islands, is most often visited as a "shore excursion" from St. Thomas. On St. John is the Virgin Islands National Park where Park Rangers lead hikes pointing out a wide variety of wildlife and vegetations, as well as the remnants of four sugar plantations. Hikes leave from the Visitors Center on Tuesday, Thursday and Saturday at 10:30 a.m. You can write to Virgin Islands National Park, Box 806, St. Thomas 00801, for more information.

The Island Nation of Jamaica offers several opportunities for excursions of the ecological nature.

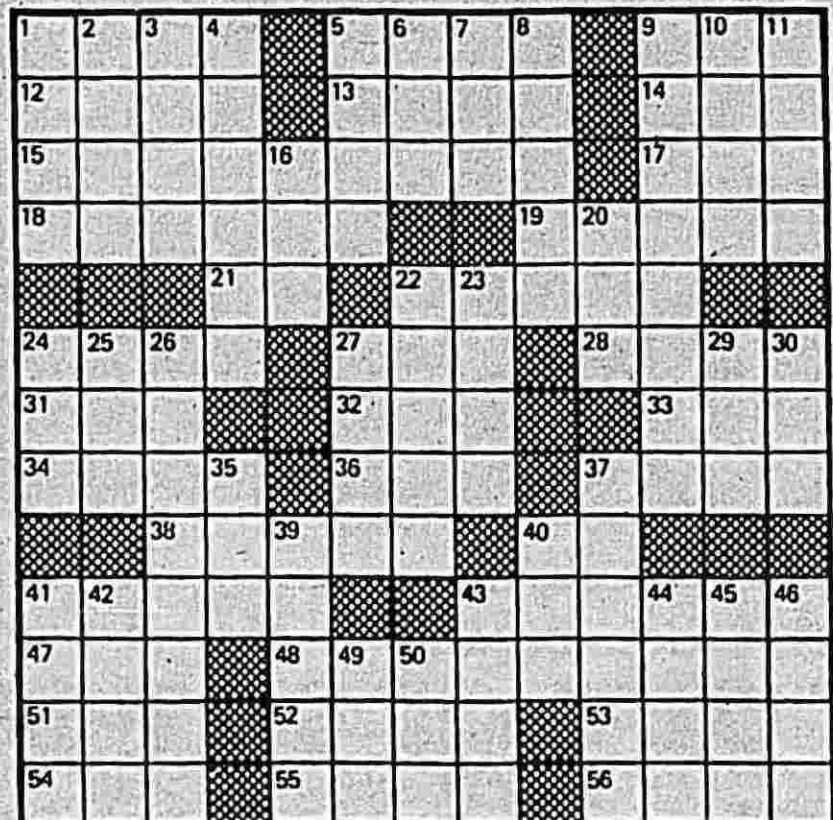

A trip down the Martha Brae River, near Montego Bay, on a bamboo raft is a relaxing way to observe Jamaica's lush riverside vegetation. Closer to Ocho Rios you can take a horseback tour of the Prospect Park Plantation visiting banana and citrus groves, as well as coffee tree and mahogany forests.

After a night of lights and glitter at the ship's disco, spend a day getting to know the ecology of the Caribbean.

★ Into the night ... ★ Light benefits ★ county homeless

Eight hours of continuous musical entertainment will fill three stages at the College of Lake County, Sunday, March 28. Proceeds from the second annual "A Light in the Window" will benefit Lake County's homeless.

From 11 a.m. to 6:45 p.m., the pop stage will feature reggae, jazz, country, horn bands and rock. At 2 p.m., Kevin Purcell and the Nightburners will light up the stage.

The folk stage runs from 11 a.m. to 7 p.m. and the children's stage runs from 11 a.m. to 6:30 p.m.

Admission to "A Light in the Window" is $6 for adults, $3 for children 6 to 12, and free for children 5 and under.

Last year's event raised $4,600 for the area's homeless people. Benefit coordinators hope to raise $10,000 from this year's event.

A long wait for Alfie

"Alfie" is a two year old yellow/shepherd mix. This 60 pound overgrown puppy first came to the shelter from N. Chicago in January of 1992. Alfie is a sweet, silly, lovable fellow who will trip all over himself, trying to get your attention. Young, strong, healthy and very trainable, this smart boy is very playful and adores people. Alfie is a super dog who has been eagerly hoping for a loving home and family for over a year. Give Alfie the chance he deserves for a happy life. Cage 88.

Cash $55 donation includes free spay/neuter, collar, leash, follow-up care, first shots and more.

Done up in her Sunday best

She's so pretty in a soft beige and red long hair coat, Sunday looks as if she's done up in her Sunday best! She's gentle, quiet and affectionate.

Sunday was abandoned along with her newborn family last summer. She is now spayed, has had all shots, and has been tested. She'd be a loving addition to any family.

For information on how to adopt Sunday or any of the dogs and cats at the Assisi shelter call (815)455-9411.

Camp guide

Lakeland
Newspapers

Kids' summer camps boast exciting field trips

Camp guide questionnaires were distributed throughout Lake County. Following are several day camp replies:

MicMac Day Camp

MicMac Day Camp is located at Woodland Primary and Intermediate School in Gages Lake. It offers boys and girls ages six to 11 activities such as: Swimming, nature activities, arts and crafts, field trips, games for large and small groups, and special events planned for each session.

MicMac offers two three-week sessions, from June 28 to July 16 and July 19 to Aug. 8. Day camp hours are 9 a.m. to 3 p.m., with extended camp from 7:30 to 9 a.m. and 3 to 5 p.m. for working parents. The counselor to camper ratio is one to 12, and cost per session is $225.

MicMac Day Camp is owned by MacAulay Enterprises, Inc. For further

Koala/Hartwood

Koala Day Camp and Hartwood Day Camp are located at the Round Lake Area Park Dist., 814 Hart Rd., Round Lake. Koala Day Camp is available for two to six year olds. Hartwood Day Camp is for second to seventh graders.

The day camps offer swimming, sports, arts and crafts, weekly field trips and nature programs. Summer sessions available are June 7 through Aug. 6 for two to six year olds; June 14 to Aug. 20 for second through seventh graders.

Counselor to camper ratio is one to eight for the two year olds, and one to 10 for the others. Day camp costs range from $80 to $98 in district, based upon age.

For further information call Michele Silver at 546-8558.

Happy Trails

Happy Trails Day Camp is located in Lake Zurich. Happy Trails' educator designed programs for boys and girls ages five through 14 include closely supervised swim instruction, basketball, sports, fishing and boating, field trips, arts and crafts, nature study, horseback riding, tennis, teen programs and special event days at the private lakeside campsite.

Happy Trails offers two to eight week sessions with flexible scheduling. Summer camp runs from June 21 through Aug. 13. The day camp offers a one to 10 counselor to camper ratio.

For further information on Happy Trails Day Camp, call Neil Sobel at 359-5652.

LIPSERVICE

IT'S THE TALK OF THE TOWN

Lakeland

Maybe you aren't interested in protecting your investment, or what happens in your small towns. The airport is too close for comfort.

Misleading The Public

I would like to caution those who call the riverboat headquarters for information. This office exists solely for the promotion of the riverboat, and therefore provides biased information. Some newspaper articles are misleading and simply state that this office should be called for information. I'd also like to question the "Name the Riverboat" contest. This coupon is featured in Lakeland Newspapers. This coupon does not carry the typical line, "Paid Advertisement." Is this a paid ad or is Lakeland Newspapers supporting the venture? I'm from Antioch.

Doesn't Want Their Kids

I'm a senior citizen from Libertyville. After reading your paper, 22,000 other students from North Chicago will be spread out among many districts in Lake County. I noticed that Vernon Hills wasn't mentioned. Does Vernon Hills have a high school? If they don't, maybe it's about time it builds one. Our children went through Libertyville and graduated. Being a senior citizen, I don't see why we should keep on paying for students, especially from North Chicago, if they come into Libertyville jurisdiction.

Qualified For Position?

I'm from Fox Lake. I've been reading in Lipservice that your readers from Round Lake, Libertyville, Antioch and other places have complaints about how their local school districts are handling money. Further along in the paper, I found an item that seems to explain why there are problems. I saw an advertisement for a full-time school district bookkeeper for the Big Hollow School Dist. The ad says, "Bookkeeping experience preferred." I wonder why it doesn't say, "Bookkeeping experience required?" I think that says a lot about how school districts are being managed.

Mind Your Own Business

I think the people who have nothing better to do with their lives except worry about their neighbor's vehicle stickers, should get a life.

Deserves Passage

I want to say thank you and voice my support for the teachers and principal, etc. at Antioch High School. These people are dedicated and put in a lot of hours above and beyond the call of duty for the benefit of the young people at Antioch High School. Over the years I've had a lot of involvement with Antioch High School and the kids are great. You people who don't support the referendum should wake up and smell the coffee. Without the referendums, not only will AHS get more crowded and understaffed, and the quality of education will plummet, but the kids will lose their sports programs and after-school activities. Will anyone be better off by saving a few tax dollars and having hundreds of kids left with nothing to do after school? I no longer have kids in Antioch schools, but I do have an obligation to the kids in the area.

They Never Learn

I'm from Round Lake and I have words for all village officials in Lake County. They are: "Fools, will you never learn?" Housing projects are the cause of all our problems. More housing caused overcrowded schools, sewers, water works and higher and higher taxes to pay for all of this. Instead of going to the people for tax increase after tax increase, the school boards of Lake County should go to the village, city and town village officials and make them pay for the extra teachers, maintenance, etc.

Our Responsibility

Why would I vote to raise my taxes? I believe society has a responsibility to provide a quality education to following generations. I have a very expensive college education. It is worth more than anything to me. As a woman, my husband could divorce me, my children will grow up and move on, and I could lose my job in this economy. However, no one can take my education from me. Women, we need to save our daughters' rights to a quality education. Vote yes for the ACHS referenda. I'm from Antioch.

Such Nerve!

To the person who had the gall to say that we senior citizens should stop complaining about cutbacks. You don't know what you're talking about when you say we get more back than we put in to Social Security. My husband and I worked hard for everything we are getting. I wonder if you can live off of what we are getting today?

Mind Your Own Business II

I'm calling in response to "Are You Special?" The person complained about someone not having vehicle stickers on their car. What business is it of yours to call the police? When they get caught, they'll get caught. Personally, I think vehicle stickers are a waste of time. I'm from Round Lake.

Equality For All?

I'd like to respond to the Gurnee Boys' Baseball call. I wonder if the caller is referring to the same coach who also has moved his second grade son to the next level. I guess you don't have to show a birth certificate this year, huh?

MYOB III

I would like to address the tattletale person who lives on Brown Street in Wauconda. Mind your own business.

We'll Get Worse Teachers

I get mad when I hear that teachers' salaries should be cut. If they cut teachers' pay and benefits, what kind of teachers are you going to get. I work as a substitute at Antioch High School, as well as other high schools. I come home every day exhausted, and I only do half of the teachers' work. I don't correct the lessons or make (Continued on page 36)

Old watches can be valuable

Remember that old watch you finally retired back in 1975? Do you remember where you put it? How about that venerable old timepiece grandpa left you? You had better look around. Watches are hot today. Collectors have paid up to $250,000 for a single wristwatch.

Okay, so your chances of finding a gem like those are rare. The good news is that today even some of the most common watches (like Bouleas and Elgins) are worth hundreds—and even thousands—of dollars. And they're out there. People are finding valuable vintage watches at flea markets, yard sales, pawn shops, jewelry stores, and even in their own attics and drawers. Watches could be the collectibles of the nineties.

Remember your grandfather's pocket watch, or your father's favorite wrist-watch? These watches went with them everywhere—to work, to church, and even to war. They were there when wedding vows were spoken and when the baby was born; they became treasured gifts lovingly given at graduation, promotion and retirement ceremonies. Each watch has its story.

Nostalgia is a great part of the charm and fun of collecting watches, but it's only one factor in determining the market value of a vintage watch. Many watches are true works of art, hand-crafted by master artisans, but the craftsmanship and unique construction of even the most common models make them collectible today.

Another element in the value of vintage watches is the fact that most contain a fair amount of gold, silver or platinum, and nearly every one contains at least seven jewels—some contain as many as 50.

Fueling the watch-buying craze is a vast and growing worldwide market for a product whose supply is fixed. The fact is, collectors are issuing standing "buy" orders to brokers, who simply can't get their hands on enough vintage watches. It's a situation that has caused the market value for collectible watches to skyrocket in the last two years. As a result, watches that were worth $25 two years ago are worth $300 to $500 this year. Collectible watches worth $10,000 two years ago could be worth $250,000 today.

According to hobbyist Steve Scott of Mobile, Ala. it doesn't take much to get started collecting and investing in vintage watches. All you really need is a comprehensive guide book (with pictures of thousands of vintage watches, not just generalized text) and a list of brokers to contact when you do find a collectible watch. Scott has put together a package designed to help people get started. It includes the industry's most comprehensive photo-illustrated guide, a confidential list of brokers, and a videotape that provides important information and advice for beginners.

Enjoy drug-free sleep

There is reasonable evidence to suggest that we are, as a nation, chronically deprived of proper sleep.

• The estimates of insomnia sufferers vary, ranging from 20 million to 70 million Americans:

• Approximately 20 million prescriptions for sleeping pills are filled in the U.S. each year.

• Sleeping pills are second in drug sales only to aspirin.

• Seventy-five million prescriptions for tranquilizers are filled annually, and as much as $175 million per year is spent on over-the-counter remedies.

Sleep medication almost invariably sets a pattern in motion: Tolerance, increased dosage, tolerance, another increase in dosage, psychological dependence, physical addiction, devastating side effects, severe withdrawal symptoms. This cycle is why natural remedies are so important for one's psychological and physical well-being.

"Everybody's Guide to Natural Sleep: A Drug Free Approach to Overcoming Insomnia and Other Sleep Disorders" (Jeremy P. Tarcher, Inc. $10.95) by Phillip Goldberg and Daniel Kaufman, is the most comprehensive guide to natural sleep available. It is an insomniac's self-help book, including advice ranging from the latest scientific research to folk remedies that really work.

Yard sales can be gold mines for alert shoppers

You can make money shopping at your neighbors' yard sales.

An elderly Californian recently bought a $20 carton of stamped envelopes off a lawn, only to discover intimate letters from Mark Twain which he sold for a half million dollars.

When a $35 yard sale cowboy photo found in upstate New York was identified as depicting Pat Garrett and Billy the Kid, the finder got $18,000.

Big money bonanzas like these aren't common, says Tony Hyman, author of five books on household treasures, "but items worth $100 to $2,500 litter the lawns of America every weekend, most of them priced under $10."

A spy Los Angeles pensioner named Eleanor reports buying a perfume bottle the owner priced at $15 because he "knew it was valuable."

"I phoned the Colorado woman Hyman recommended on KABC and asked her to make a fair offer. I almost fainted when she quoted $4,000."

Most shoppers specialize in just a few items, but one Ohio yard sale treasure seeker reported making money on toasters, can openers, jigsaw puzzles, cookbooks, cookie jars, calculators, razors, animal figurines, kits, calendars, cap guns and Halloween masks.

Items such as these are wanted by only a handful of hard-to-find people. That changed in 1980 when Hyman began publishing information about his favorite buyers of everything from stuffed aardvarks to wedding dresses.

"I'd been buying and selling collectibles for 30 years and decided to tell everyone about the good people I had worked with over the years."

Hyman's latest book lists 2,400 categories of items worth money, gives names and addresses of 1,000 buyers, and includes step-by-step instructions for you to make the sale. "I'll Buy That Too!" is available from the Treasure Hunt, Box 3028-Y, Pismo Beach, CA 93448.

Cost is $24.95 postpaid, or call 1(800)543-7500.

Everyone, no matter how inexperienced, deserves to get a fair price for their possessions, Hyman believes.

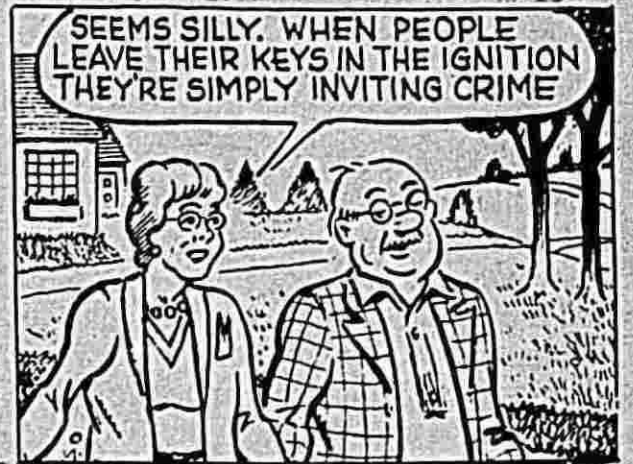

"You can easily protect yourself by finding your treasures before the pros do," Hyman says.

Be especially careful if you own any of the following, Hyman advises, since some models are worth $1,000 or more: Watches, fountain pens, musical instruments, pocket knives, Hummel figurines, pottery vases and flower frogs, paper weights, fishing tackle, Oriental and Indian items, tobacco tins, radios, hardcover mystery books, electric trains, bicycles, dolls, G.I. Joe and Barbie figures and accessories, children's lunch boxes, comic books, baseball cards, plastic models, wind-up toys, and teddy bears.

Most of these items won't sell for big bucks, but if you don't check with an expert, you could easily make an expensive mistake.

the lesson plans. Teachers deserve every penny they get. Anyone who thinks teachers get too much money should sit in a classroom and see what teachers do. I'm from Antioch.

You're Insensitive

I would like to respond to the person who said the elderly should have saved up over the years. I would like to know who the heck you think you are. Everybody needs help, especially the elderly. I don't know how much money you make, but it's rough out there. I'm 23 years old with a family. We have two-incomes coming in and we have a hard enough time buying food, let alone for retirement. My grandparents are two wonderful people who have worked their butts off for 43 years to support six kids and themselves. If you spent some time in an elderly person's shoes, you wouldn't feel that way.

No Comments?

I'm a life-long Lake Villa resident. I am surprised that nobody has spoken out about the library tax increase. Last November, it would have cost us $37 per $100,000 home. Now the library group is saying it will be $27. It's about time that the home-impact fees should be increased on new homes. Then, long-time Lake Villa residents won't be paying a dime on this thing.

Signs Mean Involvement

This is a comment to the person who called in about the signs in Wauconda, ruining the aesthetics of the town. Campaigns are all-American, that's what we're all about. I like to drive through any community and see signs everywhere. It tells me that the community is involved. Anything we can do to encourage people to vote is a plus in my estimation.

Tribute To Erickson

A tribute to Dave Erickson. Mr. Erickson should be complimented for a fine performance as the trustee of the village of Lindenhurst. He cares for the people and he is responsive to their needs. Lindenhurst needs more public officials like him. I take my hat off to you, Mr. Dave Erickson.

Boo Hoo!

To the Hampel supporters who don't like the bright yellow signs, boo hoo! For the first time, signs have been placed with thoughtful consideration. The signs are solidly placed at requested locations.

Not Cool!

I go to St. Gilbert's School in Grayslake and I would like to say something to all those people who think the prep- and grungy-wear is cool. Forget it! Your ruining our eighth grade year at St. Gilbert's School. Thanks a lot.

Get Us A Target

Antioch officials, get a Target store for us in Antioch. Target contributes 5 percent of its pre-tax dollars to community organizations. Look what good this would do for us here. We have to go to Round Lake, Vernon Hills and Gurnee. Doesn't Gurnee have enough shopping over there? Don't you officials think we are important? I'd like to compliment Lipservice. It's one of the best columns in the newspapers in the area.

We Need Casinos

This is in response to "It Figures, Doesn't It?" Yes, Fox Lake is dead. So is Antioch. That's why I think we need the riverboat casinos in this area. We need to be revitalized.

Get Facts In Order

I'm with Gurnee Boys Baseball. You printed a story in here that the Bronco team had already been picked and the 12-year-old was so heartbroken when he came home. Well, the Bronco team has not been picked as of March 19. Check your facts before you call in.

Mom's Choice

Tell the baseball of fans that they are not alone. Here in Johnsbury, my son didn't make the team, either. But the third basemen, whose mother happens to be president of the baseball league, made the team. He didn't even catch a ball all season. My son hit home runs every game and didn't make the team.

Felicia Lewis, Program Assistant at the Lake County Center for Independent Living getting into her car to go shopping. — Photos by Connie Kindsvater

Lewis had a hydraulic lift specially made, which enables her to push a button and store her wheelchair on top of the vehicle when she goes out.

Persons with disabilities live easier

Felicia Lewis is a quadriplegic, but she drives her own car, works, and lives independently.

"People with disabilities don't need to be taken care of," said Lewis, program assistant for the Lake County Center for Independent Living in Mundelein. "They can take care of themselves."

Lewis is a typical employee at the private, not-for-profit center—an agency that is run for people with disabilities by people who understand the needs of persons with disabilities the most, those with disabilities.

Lewis is a classic example.

She uses a wheelchair and has installed a hydraulic lift on the top of her car. It gives her the independence she wants and needs in her busy life as a working, single parent and a peer counselor in the Spinal Cord Injury Support Group that meets at the College of Lake County.

Independent living, a philosophy that empowers persons with disabilities to reach their full potential and live more productive lives, is the guiding force behind the center. It enables persons with disabilities to set their own goals, to make their own decisions concerning their lives.

"We don't do it for them, but we're here to assist them in doing it for themselves," said executive director Lori

Clark is the only person without a disability at the Center for Independent Living.

Part of assistance includes helping people with disabilities achieve goals they have set.

One person may want to move out of a nursing home; someone else may want to become more independent in his current setting. Another person may be asking for help in getting more benefits, or someone may choose to start handling her own finances. Employees at the center help those persons achieve those goals.

The Center for Independent Living is a self-enabling place — a place where persons with disabilities, or their families, can go to gather information, seek referrals, explore options, set goals and take control of their own lives. And, the person with disabilities can take advantage of the many services the center offers — at no cost.

"Last week I went to our Stroke Support Group," recalled Helen Glasder, Personal Assistant Coordinator for the center. Glasder suffered a stroke herself so she can relate to members of the support group and help herself as well.

"There was a person there on her second visit who said she was looking forward to coming back because everyone laughed so much there and had a good

Volunteers help make wheelchairs roll

Walter Alley first offered his services to the Volunteer Services Department at Condell Medical Center two years ago. He had always worked with his hands and wanted to continue to put his talent and expertise to good use, he told Mary Francoeur, Condell's volunteer director. "I don't want to push wheelchairs. I'd rather fix them," Alley said.

So he created the "Wheel Works" services to keep the medical center's wheelchairs in good repair.

Like any successful business, Condell's "Wheel Works" is expanding. Alley now has four associates. Together, they will be offering wheelchair inspections to members of the community free of charge beginning April 15 on Wednesdays between 9 a.m. and noon.

Customers will be required to sign a hold-harmless agreement and "Wheel Works" will accommodate those who need only minor repairs.

The five "Wheel Works" volunteer retirees performing this service are Alley, who was director of training for Midas International Corporation, Judd Sackheim, former national merchandise manager for Sears Roebuck, John Kokum, former personnel employee of US Steel, Jim Donndelinger, who worked in sales engineering and manufacturing, and Jack Golen who worked in personnel, employee and industrial relations. All are Libertyville residents.

After the owner signs a release, a "Wheel Works" volunteer will check the equipment and make minor repairs such as tightening screws, if necessary.

If additional repairs are needed, the volunteer will prepare an evaluation sheet to provide the owner with information to evaluate repair estimates.

"Wheel Works" requires that the chairs submitted for inspection be clean. However, they will help owners with removing stubborn stains.

Child deaths from poisons increase

Child deaths from poisons are increasing, and with spring just around the corner, the number will continue — unless families take precautions and safety measures.

Kathleen Szczech, a child safety specialist / educator in Lake County, gave a presentation in Chicago early this week, and emphasized safety measures that parents can take to lower the chances of their children becoming poisoned.

"The most important thing is for parents to call the poison control center or 911 immediately and not try to administer care themselves," Szczech (pronounced "check") said.

"Many times parents try to induce vomiting and if a child ingested a corrosive material, there will be serious burns in the throat," she added.

In Lake County, many poison control centers are located directly within area hospitals.

The largest increase in deaths were caused by over-the-counter prescriptions, like Tylenol, Szczech said.

"Some of the aspirins like Tylenol come in sample products, like two gel-caps, and a mother will carry them in her purse because it is convenient," she said. "But the child gets into the purse and finds them."

"People don't realize that even though aspirin is not thought of as a poison, if a child gets into it and takes ten or more, the child dies."

With spring approaching, a growing concern is poisonous plants. Many people do not know that some of the plants used in the home for decoration are poisonous. The matter will be addressed at a later date.

Common household products that are poisonous include detergents, bleaches, ammonia, deodorants, facial make-up, nail polish and nail polish remover.

Experts now are saying to store those products on a high shelf in the laundry room, or a high shelf in the kitchen that children cannot reach, even when climbing.

Another safety precaution is keeping a container of Ipecac in the home. Szczech said that some experts are suggesting carrying a bottle in the diaper bag.

"But Ipecac is only to be administered to a child if a physician says or under the advice of the poison control center," Szczech said.

Most importantly, read labels and keep poisons out of children's reach, not just behind a locked door, Szczech said.

"Prevention is the key, and these things need to be reviewed every year, especially when a household has more than one child in it," Szczech said.

Blood drive

The College of Lake County health center will sponsor a blood drive from 9 a.m. to 3 p.m. Wednesday, April 14, in Orange Court of the Grayslake campus, 19351 W. Washington St. According to LifeSource, there is a great demand for blood types "B" and "O" Negative, although all types are needed. For information or to make an appointment, contact the health center at 223-6601, ext. 2274, or stop in Room A-149.

Medicare maze

On April 28 at 7 p.m. at the Cook Memorial Public Library Gary Rubin, a practicing attorney, will explain the legal analysis behind the Medicare and Medicaid Maze. He will discuss how to maximize one's entitlement to benefits and preserve a family's assets in the event of a long-term illness. Registration is required for both programs. Call reception desk at 362-2330.

Retirement life

Barbara Gass, a retirement and life care consultant, has visited over 250 home for older adults. On April 14 at 7 p.m. she will discuss what's available, what to look for when you visit, finances and more.

Psychiatric center

A preferred alternative to psychiatric hospitalization for the treatment of troubled adults is now available at Highland Park Hospital.

The Adult Day Treatment Program operates Monday through Friday from 9 a.m. to 3:30 p.m. and evenings as needed, for a length of stay based on the individual's needs typically two to six weeks. For more information, call 480-2625.

Medical/health/fitness update

Lifeline is a new medical/health section that will appear in Lakeland Newspapers weekly. Hospitals, medical centers, special care units, health care facilities and individuals are welcome to submit information and story ideas to Heather McDonald, Medical/Health Editor, Lakeland Newspapers, 30 S. Whitney St., Crayslake, IL 60030 or call 223-8161.

Patel has known since childhood he wanted to be a doctor. In Tanzania, where he grew up, a doctor was always looked up to.

"Since childhood I was interested in becoming a physician," Patel said. "They were looked at as someone who could cure everything."

Patel carries that with him, along with his smile. Offering free services such as blood pressure screening, to the community is part of his nature.

"You need to listen to people, and smile a lot," he said. "It helps to relieve the pain."

Patel practiced medicine in India, where he was involved in tropical medicine. He traveled to England, Africa, back home to Tanzania, and eventually came to the United States, where he studied cardiology and internal medicine in Chicago.

He has opened his own practice in Lindenhurst and has an office in Waukegan.

"I wanted to work for myself," he said. "Then I could control whatever I did."

And what he does is make people comfortable. Patel's philosophy is to keep an open, friendly, "bi-lateral" relation with patients.

"I want my patients to know what exactly the problem is, and tell them about the medication(s) they will take," he said. "They need to know why and how it works. It makes a very relaxed atmosphere."

One of the Peer Counselors explained the center's philosophy by saying, "It's not what I want for that person, but what that person wants for himself. This self-direction process includes setting goals, learning from mistakes and adjusting the goals to be attainable."

On advocacy and disability rights, the center is definitely pro-active. Ultimately, the center's goal is to ensure an end of all discrimination against persons with disabilities.

"Many people won't make eye contact with persons who have disabilities," said Clark. "They just pretend they are not there, that they don't exist."

"Instead of doing that, reach out in a way that you are comfortable with," she suggested. "Ask the persons with disabilities what help they need, and then listen to what they tell you."

The center also helps to educate the community on issues affecting persons with disabilities. "The community needs to change to be more accessible for people with disabilities," said Clark. "If you make it accessible, people will come to it."

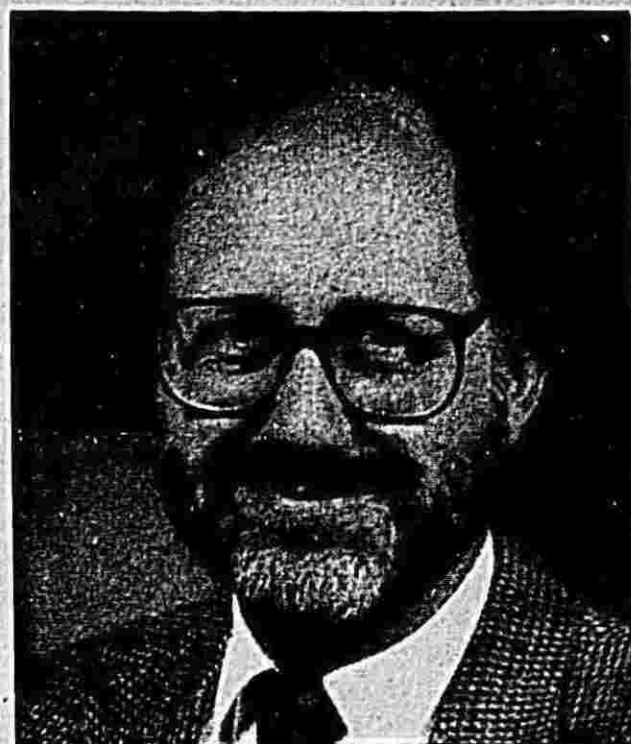

One of Clark's pet peeves is people without disabilities who park in parking spots that are marked for people with disabilities. She pointed out that the law says that police officers can ticket illegal parked vehicles on any property, and the fine is $50, minimum.

"People need to look at changing their attitudes about people with disabilities," said Clark. "People with disabilities have a right to live and work in the community."

The independent living concept for persons with disabilities was a movement that grew out of the 1960s, explained Clark. The Lake County Center for Independent Living became a reality in 1991, after receiving funding from a federal grant.

The center is one of 18 in the state of Illinois; all are funded by the Illinois Department of Rehabilitation Services (DORS).

The breakfast club

by CAROLE STERN

Wake up and smell the coffee brewing, the muffins baking and the eggs frying. Think this is a dieter's fantasy? Think again! Pour yourself a cup of that coffee and check out our Banana Streusel Muffins and Mexican Omelet with Avocado Topping.

Need a make-ahead, quick breakfast treat? Try our Sunshine Parfait. With a nod to nutrition and the growing awareness that carbohydrate intake should be spread throughout the day for maximum energy, breakfast is once again playing an important role in meal planning.

Banana streusel muffins

Topping

2 T. sugar

2 T. walnuts, finely chopped

1/4 tsp. cinnamon

Muffins

2 c. all-purpose flour

3/4 c. sugar

2 tsp. double-acting baking powder

1 tsp. baking soda

3/4 tsp. salt

1 large whole egg plus 2 whites

1 c. low-fat yogurt

2 T. skim milk

3/4 stick (6 T.) margarine, melted

1 tsp. vanilla

3 large bananas (very ripe), mashed

Topping: In a small bowl, combine sugar, walnuts and cinnamon. Set aside.

Muffins: Sift flour, sugar, baking powder, baking soda and salt in a large bowl. In another bowl, whisk together eggs, yogurt, milk, margarine and vanilla. Make a well in the flour mixture, add the egg mixture and stir batter with a wooden spoon until blended. Stir in the bananas (batter will be lumpy).

Pour batter into 12 greased muffin tins and bake in the middle of a 400 degree oven 15 to 20 minutes. Turn onto racks, and let cool. Serves 12.

Mexican omelet with avocado topping

1 T. fresh cilantro minced

1 tsp. lemon juice

1/2 avocado, peeled and cut into small pieces

Vegetable cooking spray

Egg substitute equal to 4 eggs, or 6 egg whites

1/4 c. scallions, sliced

1/2 c. chunky-style bottled salsa, medium to hot, as desired

Put yogurt, cilantro and lemon juice in a small bowl. Mix well. Add avocado and stir again. Heat skillet on medium-high heat and spray with vegetable cooking spray. Add egg mixture and cook, stirring lightly, until mixture begins to set on bottom. Add onions and continue cooking until lightly set. Spoon salsa down the middle of the omelet. Loosen edges with spatula and fold in half. Carefully slide out of pan onto serving platter. Top with avocado mixture. Serves 2.

Sunshine parfait

3/4 c. plain non-fat yogurt

1/4 tsp. vanilla extract

1/2 c. strawberries, sliced

1/4 c. blueberries

1/2 oz. granola

In small bowl, combine yogurt and vanilla. In parfait glass, layer 1/4 cup yogurt, strawberries, blueberries and remaining yogurt. Top with granola. Serves 1.

To freeze: I like to make these in Tupperware containers with lids. You can label and freeze them for up to 2 months.

To serve: Defrost in refrigerator.

NOTE: Other fruits and berries may be used, such as peaches, apples and pears, raspberries and blackberries.

County equalization factor dips this year

Lake County has been issued a final property assessment equalization factor of .9852, according to Sam McGaw, acting director of the Illinois Dept. of Revenue.

The property assessment equalization factor, often called the multiplier, is the method used to achieve uniform property assessments among counties. This equalization is particularly important because some of the state's 6,600 local taxing districts overlap into two or more counties. If there was no equalization among counties, substantial inequities among taxpayers with comparable properties would result.

The equalization factor currently being assigned is for 1992 taxes. Last year's equalization factor for the county was 1.

Way Behind

I'm from Grass Lake. Our school is way behind in education. I'm in the seventh grade and I'm learning stuff in math that I learned in fifth grade at another school. I'd like to say that we need something done at our school.

Stop Your Barking

I'm from Lake Zurich and I'm really sick of my rude neighbors who put their dogs outside and let them bark for hours. Go to dog training school. Thank you.

Tree Trimmers Inc.

In response to "Beyond The Call Of Duty," it seems that the Fox Lake Street Dept. is in the tree cutting business for private citizens as well. Why can't all taxpayers get their trees trimmed by this department.

Where's Your World?

I have to respond to the person who said there'd be no need for Social Security if seniors had saved money during their working years. I want to suggest that this person leaves the fantasy world and come to reality. What does this person think the white-collar salary was 40 years ago?

I Made It

I'm calling to say that I'm tired of having money taken out of my paycheck for other people who are too lazy to get a job or keep having babies while on public aid. I was a divorced mother for eight years with only a high school diploma. I made it. I was never on food stamps. I was never on welfare. I worked that sixth day to pay for childcare.

Congratulations

Congratulations to my husband on his transfer to the detective squad at Round Lake Beach. I speak for family and friends, saying we are proud of you for reaching your goal. Keep up the good work and good luck with your new assignment.

Turn On The Light

We understand that in the last couple of years that a few members of Antioch High School have retired and been given a bonus of $100,000 each. Maybe the Antioch High School board members could put some light on the subject.

No More Huddles

Antioch Community High School is thinking about cutting out all activities to save money. How about saving the $145,000 the food service is costing the school?

Day-Long Drive

I live in Antioch Twp., 22 miles from the courthouse. The other day we had to go into the courthouse and had to deal with the grid-lock and parking problem. It's almost a half-a-day's chore.

Take A Look At Spending

It would be in the best interest of the voters in Woodland Dist. 50 to look at the spending that is going on in their district. The superintendent sees fit to spend $40,000 on office furniture, while the students sit at 35-year-old desks. I think the public should make their comments known during the election this year.

Education Not Taking Place

Any teacher, coach or administrator that allows these kind of politics to go on with the students, at their expense, never deserves a raise, should not see another dollar from another taxpayer, and when will this stop? Education is not taking place.

Keep All In Mind

Teachers and sports coaches should have the interests of all students in mind, not just a select few. What kind of personal satisfaction get by hurting the feelings of our youth? These people are role models and should act like role models, not like children.

Keep Them There

Prisons are not overcrowded. In North Chicago, all the schools still have room. We don't want North Chicago kids mixing with our kids. Keep the bad apple in one spot. Don't mix the bad with the good.

How To Survive The Job Search

By Nancy Sakol

Q: Dear...Search; I was hoping you could shed some light on a subject that I know must be a common one. I work for a company where everyone is pretty close. I am thankful for that, because my co-workers are the best! The problem is, that for every co-workers birthday everyone pitches in money for lunches and a gift. This includes the bosses birthdays and bosses day as well. I don't mean to complain about this mainly because I had a birthday two weeks after starting my job, and low and behold, all my co-workers made me feel very special that day. I am pretty much on a strict budget seeing that I was unemployed for a while and I have been trying to play "catch-up" for some time. While I want to be a part of all the festivities, I only have so much money to live off of each month, and with 14 co-workers, this is getting to be expensive. How can I make myself a part of these corporate festivities without appearing to be an outcast by not contributing as others apparently are able to? Name Withheld - Lindenhurst.

A: Dear Name Withheld, Good Question! May I suggest that perhaps you voice the idea of instead of pitching in $$$ for these festivities, that you have "pot luck" lunches in the office. Seems to me that with 14 co-workers, your office can have a great buffet for your fellow workers if each person brought in a dish to pass. The nice part about this is that you can have different themes. For instance, one lunch can be strictly a salad lunch, where each person brings in a favorite cold salad...tuna, pasta...etc. One company that I was employed with had a great idea. One person brought in baked potatoes that were par baked and just needed to be microwaved, and each employee brought in a topping for them. There are so many ways that one does not have to spend a lot of money in the work place yet get the point across that they wish you well on these occasions. Another...how about all 14 people, bring in 14 of the craziest birthday cards they can find! In either case, I don't think you are alone. Pass the word...state your ideas. In this economy one is out there working usually to earn money to support their household. While it is wonderful to be able to celebrate these special days, it should not be with a strain. Mention it before the next occasion arises. I bet you will find many people who will support the idea.

By Landmark Designs, Inc.

A farmhouse porch adds a dash of country flavor to the Toucan, a 1 1/2 story contemporary ranch-style home designed for a family with older or grown children. The owners' suite is downstairs, so adults can meet all their needs without ever climbing stairs. This leaves the upper rooms for children, grandchildren or other guests.

Not that there's anything inferior about the second floor bedrooms. Far from it. Both have skylights, vaulted ceilings and walk-in closets, one of them quite large. A walk-in linen closet is tucked into an alcove in the hall-way and the skylit compartmentalized bathroom has twin vanities.

Descending the stairs into the high-ceilinged vaulted entry, you can enjoy the view through a dormer window above the front door. A plant shelf on top of a closet next to the woodbox provides a space to display an objects or hanging plants. Basement access is directly under the main stairs.

On the main level, vaulted ceilings give an open, spacious feeling to the already large family living and entertainment areas. The tiled-hearth, see-through fireplace provides a cheerful focal point in both the dining and living room. Sliding glass doors brighten the dining room and allow easy access to a small deck.

gathering. Counter space is augmented by a central work island, and a walk-in pantry adds to the ample storage capacity. A small bathroom is between the kitchen and the family room, convenient to all of the family living areas.

The isolated family room allows teens to shut the doors, crank up the volume on their favorite tunes, and enjoy themselves without causing pain to their parents. Utilities, a deep sink, counters, cabinets and a fold-down ironing board are hidden behind pocket doors in the family room.

The master suite is buffered from the sound by its walk-in closet and a private bathroom with twin vanities.
Another notable feature is the luxurious skylit, oversized shower.

IEPA lists unprotected water wells

Now that 21 community water supplies in Illinois are protected by ordinances requiring maximum setback zones around water wells, and an additional 26 are in the process of adopting such ordinances, Lake County remains with a handful of "unprotected" water supply systems, according to the Illinois Environmental Protection Agency.

Wellhead surveys done by the IEPA in compliance with the state's Groundwater Protection Act indicated that more than 1,700 of the 3,390 water wells serving community water supplies in Illinois were at risk of contamination from sources in the vicinity of the wells.

The IEPA recommended that these wells should be given additional protection by establishing maximum setback zones of up to 1,000 feet, within which potentially harmful activities would be barred.

The following Lake County entries are followed by a number showing the number of quarters in that status: Allendale School (5), Antioch (4), Chain O' Lakes MHP (8), Countryside Lake Subdivision (8), Countryclub Estates (8), Countryside Manor Subdivision (8), Elm-Oak Mutual Water Assn. (5), Forest Lake Addn (8), Fox Lake Hills (8), Grandwood Park (5), Hawthorn Woods (5), Heiden Gardens Condos (5), Highland Lake Subdivision (5), Hilldale Manor Water Co. (8), Holly Hock Hill MHP (1), Island Lake (5), Island Lake Water Co. (4), Lakewood Water Sys. (8), Lindenhurst (8), Lake Barrington Shores (8), Pekara Subdivision (8), Rand Estates Subdivision (4), Round Lake Park (8), Sturm Subdivision (8), Summit Homeowners (8), Sylvan Lake First Subdivision (8), Sylvan Lake Second, Third Subdivisions (8), Tower Lakes Water Co. (8), Wadsworth Oaks Subdivision (8), West Shore Park Subdivision (8), West Shoreland (8), and Wildwood Subdivision (8).

Recalling the grade school and spitballs

by RUSSELL E. EWING
Lakeland Newspapers

One of Grayslake's most visible landmarks in the 1930's was the grade school and its bell tower.

Located at the corner of Lake Street and Route 120, the grade school was actually made up of three connected buildings.

The school's frontpiece was the old school built around 1900. On top of the building, set like a crown, was the bell tower in which was hung a large bell. School custodian, Phil Gould, did double-duty as chief bell-ringer.

The bell could be heard throughout the town. The first bell-call of each school day was a warning that classes would start in 10 minutes. Mr. Gould rang it again when classes started, for morning and afternoon recesses, and at the end of lunch time.

Inside the old building were the first, fourth, fifth and sixth grade classrooms.

A modern addition to the school was the middle building which connected the old building on one side, to the auditorium on the other. It contained the second, third, seventh and eighth grade classrooms. The principal's office was located on the second floor between the seventh and eighth grade rooms.

Until 1938, the grade school principal was Karl Baylor. Mr. Baylor left Grayslake in 1938 to become superintendent of schools at Libertyville. Roger Dardenne became the new principal.

Teachers I remember from the 1930's were: Bertha Cremin (she had red hair), fifth grade; Jean McKenzie (a very serious lady and a fine teacher), sixth grade; Madonna Masterson (strict — no gum chewing or talking), seventh grade; Roger Dardenne, eighth grade and principal.

Other teachers between 1935 and 1939 were Lula Wagner, first grade; Myrtle Cheeseman, second grade; Grace Adams, third grade.

In 1937, a new teacher came to the school, Ida E. Wolfe, who taught the fourth grade. Miss Wolfe was also the music teacher for all grades.

The music room was on the first floor of the old building. Music, as taught at Grayslake Grade School, consisted mainly of class singing of songs from the World War I and beyond.

I can still hear our rollicking renditions of "K-K-K-Katie," "Down by the Old Mill Stream," "Over There" and others.

A music room session almost always included a few games of musical chairs. Miss Wolfe played the piano for the class.

During the 1936-37 school year, my sixth grade teacher, Mrs. McKenzie, had to be out for several weeks while she had an operation. Her place was taken by a young substitute teacher named Miss Stratton.

What I remember most about Miss Stratton (besides her prematurely gray hair) was that she once told her class that her brother was in politics. Her brother's name was William Stratton — years later elected governor of Illinois.

The third building, the auditorium, also served as the school's gymnasium. It was there the school's basketball team fought for the glory of the school. The games didn't bring out many spectators because the size of the auditorium allowed room for only one row of seats along the sidelines.

A large stage with a heavy velvet maroon curtain was at the rear of the auditorium. Also served as Grayslake's community center and during the winter months many events were held there.

Probably the most popular activity which drew the largest crowds were the once-a-month appearances of the J. B. Ritenour Players. The Ritenour Players was a highly-talented itinerant theatrical troupe which traveled a circuit that included much of northern Illinois.

Children usually sat on the floor close to the stage. Besides a close view of the activities on stage, being up front provided much greater accuracy for spitwads. As for myself, I had a nifty little wire slingshot that worked just fine.

The Ritenour Players came to Grayslake for only two or three years. I think the group's break up was brought about by the oncoming war; not that they were chased away from Grayslake.

Regardless of what caused their departure, they were sadly missed — by the children who were left with no targets for their spitwads.

Other events I remember held in the school's auditorium were donkey basketball games sponsored by the Grayslake Businessmen's Assn. Members of the association rode the donkeys as players.

In 1939, the American Legion sponsored amateur boxing matches at the auditorium. I especially remember on boxer, a fellow who called himself "Whirlwind Farmer." Dressed in bib overalls cut off at the knees, Whirlwind's trademark was a windmill-type punch which anyone watching would expect to be a sure knockout for anyone catching it.

Whirlwind's one and only appearance at Grayslake revealed a serious weakness in his delivery. While Whirlwind was winding up his punch, his opponent sneaked a hay maker to his jaw.

The last I saw Whirlwind Farmer was his being carried to the dressing room on a stretcher. I heard that later he changed his name and his act.

Life in Grayslake during the 1930's wasn't all fun and games. There was a major economic depression to contend with.

The grade school and its auditorium helped the town get through those rough times — and in the process give us a few laughs. It also gave me some sweet memories.

Residents are miffed over settlement

The approved settlement agreement between Park Mobile Home Inc. did not sit well with the residents who crowded the city council meeting at which it was approved.

"I don't think it is being fair to the tenants. It favors the park owner and the city," resident Elise Koch said.

The agreement survived votes, two of which ended in a split city council vote. Mayor Rob Allen cast the deciding vote on each. Ald. Alonzo Strange, William Schaefer and Jim Palmieri voted yes while Ald. Charles Carder, Martha Bradley and Ken Enberg voted no.

The meeting featured early confrontations between aldermen and the public and Allen saying there would be no "catcalls" from the audience, threatening to recess the meeting. At one point, Ald. Palmieri clashed with residents but later apologized.

"I would like to have the actual numbers on the meters read," resident Walt Siverson said.

Terms of the agreement call for rent rebates of $15 a month for rents starting July 1, 1992; Jan. 1, 1992 rent leases would see a $30 per month rebate for 12 months. It also calls for the city and the park to read water meters upon request of the tenant and 3,000 gallons of free water and sewer for those over age 62.

"The $163,000 rebate will be whipped out due to the fact they will have to pay the water bills back to Nov. 1," resident Dave Beller said.

The agreement includes a 120-day "payback" period for those residents who withheld water payments during the court action.

"It was illegal for them to attach the water meters," resident Virginia Frieden said. "What about the family with three-or-four kids. They need as much water as I do. They will have to send their kids to school dirty."

Baseball clinic scheduled

Lake County Baseball is offering a clinic for boys and girls ages 8 to 12 on March 27 at Webster Junior High in Waukegan. The cost $10 and will be conducted from 9 to 11:30 a.m.

There will be a batting cage and other devices to aid with hitting, as well as a pitching mound with instruction for pitchers and catchers and drill for both infield and outfield.

Head instructor or camp director is Art Mansavage and he will use his Lake County staff to instruct.

Fathers interested in learning and helping are encouraged.

It is only March and although baseball games are scheduled this weekend, Old Man Winter is going at it for one last hurrah.

"This is the first time in several years that we have not played a game or gone outside before going on our trip to Florida," College of Lake County Coach Gene Hanson said.

The Lancer foes, on the other hand, will have played a Midwest's worth of a season before the Lancers arrive in Orlando March 26. "The team with the fewest number of games will have played 33. Every year, we shoot for .500 on the trip to Florida. This year I will be really happy with 5-5."

The Lancers were 10-2 in the Sunshine State last year en route to a 33-11 season and another Skyway Conference championship.

Warren graduate Steve Karolewicz leads the returnees. The shortstop hit .314 last year.

"He only struck out about three times in 170 at-bats. He is an outstanding Division I player," Hanson said. In fact, the University of Arkansas at Little Rock has already given Karolewicz and second baseman Dan Strom an offer for next year.

Strom, from Libertyville, played several positions last year but that will not be the case in 1993. "He will be our lead-off hitter. He hit .400 last year and was all conference and all-state. He has no weaknesses. He will be our catalyst and only play second this year," Hanson said.

Both players may also be called on for their pitching skills from the bullpen.

Earning more looks than expected at the CLC practice sessions has been Carmel grad Kurt Bruksch, an outfielder.

Dean Clark, a freshman from Kenosha, is expected to anchor the outfield in center. "He is just a solid performer. He is good, line drive hitter and has a fast, strong and quick arm," Hanson said.

Left-field is a battle between two right-handed batters. Pat Ramms of Lake Zurich will start but fellow first-year player Heath Cummings of Zion is also expected to see action.

Rick Young, a back-up last year, will be the catcher. Tony Alport, a Carmel grad, will be the designated hitter and back-up catcher.

Brian Garrity, a sophomore from Lake Forest, hit over .300 last year and is back. Another sophomore is Mike Madel, a third baseman who was drafted by the Houston Astros following high school.

As for pitching, the Lancers do not have a dominant name early. "Last year we had John Katanlinich and Jim Cooney but it dropped off after that. We feel we have better arms this year," Hanson said.

Andy Burks, a righthander, is a solid performer; Dan Torresin, a righty from Kenosha, has been the most impressive, as had last year's Northwest Suburban Conference MVP, Round Lake's Derek Hart.

"I saw Hart throw four or five times last year. He is just a real competitor. He challenges the hitters and mixes up the pitches very well," Hanson said.

Another freshman on staff is Antioch grad Scott Lucadello. "He is very sneaky. He is only 5-7, but he throws a lot of off-speed stuff," Hanson said.

It was getting late at night, some 30 minutes after her team had lost 80-64 to Libertyville in the sectional final at Stevenson.

A Mundelein fan, clad in layers of red and white paint, sat on a bench at the Lincolnshire school.

The fact that MHS fell to Libertyville could have been anticipated by the middle of the third quarter. But the rejuvenated interest in Mundelein basketball was the statement here. The Mustangs electrified the town, reaching the sectional round for the first time in 20 years.

"We had a great year. Everybody in school was talking about the game a lot," Kyle Kessel said.

Kessel, the flashy junior guard, was one of the big reasons the Mustangs are now a county power. Kessel reached fourth in the state in a year of point guard domination. That, coupled with Mundelein's 20-9 record, earned Kessel this year's MVP award for Lakeland Newspapers.

Kessel joins the likes of Grayslake graduate Timm West, Libertyville's Shawn Stanek and Gerald Coleman of Stevenson as winners the past two years.

Mundelein spikers looking to continue winning ways

On certain nights of the week, volleyball fans can watch Steve Payne play outside hitter for the leading team in the Mundelein men's volleyball league.

Also this spring, Payne is trying to bring his own philosophy to the Mundelein High boys volleyball program. He takes over the reigns from Dan Szymkowiak.

"I was head coach for the Cary-Grove girls team for two years, I coach the girls team at Marian Central and play club volleyball," Payne said.

The Mustangs are coming off a 19-win season and second-place in the North Suburban Conference. But the slate is whipped clean with the new coach.

"I am getting to know them and they are getting to know some of the things I do differently," Payne said.

The Mustangs opened the season at Waukegan March 25.

young in terms of experience. Back are seniors Jason Gates, a center; Dave Poterek, a middle hitter; Rob Becker, an outside hitter; and Pat Page, a setter.

"Now, we are just working on the basics. We hope to be able to compete with the conference teams which have players who play club ball," Payne said.

Stevenson, Lake Forest, Fenton and Libertyville offer boys volleyball, a growing sport with its own state final series.

Kessel

With Libertyville's Matt Heldman guiding his team to a Sweet Sixteen finish and a breath away from Champaign; Carmel's Jermaine Williams pumping in more than 80 three-pointers; Antioch's Jeff Woods scoring seemingly all of his team's points at times; Warren's Mark Leginski calling the shots; and Grayslake running effective clear-out plays for soph Dave Mandralla en route to a .500 season, if you liked slick ball-handling ability, 1992-93 was indeed your year.

"It gets you pumped up because you have to play against someone good every game," Kessel said.

Mundelein, regional champs, tied for second in the North Suburban Conference, winning their last seven games before the loss to the Wildcats.

Although sometimes taunted by opposing fans as "coach's son," Kyle can easily remember his basketball roots. Spending his early years in Oregon, Ill. as his Dad won regionals and most of his more than 300 games with the Hawks.

"It's my Dad. He motivated me and pushed me. I owe all my success to him," Kyle said.

Kessel, an all-North Suburban Conference and honorable mention all-state pick, averaged almost 20 points a game for MHS while not getting the ball to Thad Miller (14.3) or Matt Brua (16.1) or Gerald Coleman (14.9).

As for the assists, Kyle said he has played with Miller for four or five years. "He has a good sense of where I will pass the ball," he said.

"No one passes the ball as well as he can. He sees the court better. Heldman is an outstanding scorer, but Kyle does not have an equal as a play maker," Coach Kessel said. "Kyle is an outstanding player with a lot of room to improve," Coach Dennis Kessel said.

That room for improvement is in the bulk area. "Today we got him a summer job with a concrete company," Coach Kessel said the day after awards night.

Kyle, whose older sister Candace plays volleyball at Western Illinois University, had an early start in basketball.

"He has been playing basketball since he was five-years-old," Coach Kessel said. "Coaches used to let him come to the summer camps I coached at." Early Kyle watchers recall him playing on the eighth-grade team at Carl Sandburg Middle School, lighting it up at a Knights of Columbus tourney at the College of Lake County.

"Basketball is my favorite sport because there is so much action. But I have not decided which sport I would want to play in college. A lot depends non how things go in baseball," Kyle said.

Kessel is shifting his focus to baseball now, as the Mustangs have a season opener scheduled for March 27 against Wauconda.

All-area contingent would guard its fortunes closely

Let's see. Jeff Woods picks up the loose ball, dribbles it across midcourt. He is double-teamed by a Round Lake-like trap. He quickly gives the ball up to Jermaine Williams. Off a Matt Heldman screen, Williams nails a trey.

But then again, every team needs at least one big man inside. The all-guard look may be fine for full-court run-and-gun, but what about when the action turns halfcourt.

Easy we will go to Tim Culotta, who can fake your socks off and go outside as well as he did for Grant. Or maybe dump the ball into Stevenson's Mr. Consistency, Jason Justus.

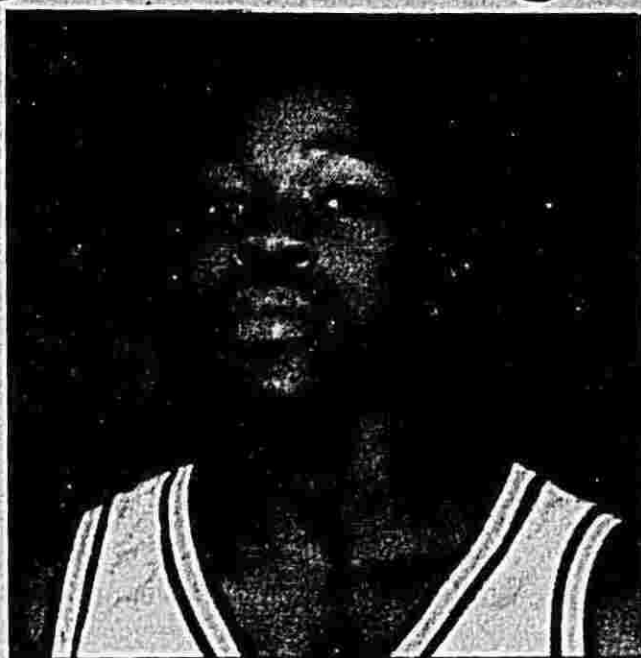

"Matt was capable of playing that way all year. He picked it up a notch in the tournament, no question."

Libertyville Coach Max Sanders said.

The 17-13 Wildcats came a free-throw or two away from returning to the Assembly Hall for the second time in three years. Heldman, a junior guard, upped his 23 points per game by more than 10.

"He picked it up, but then again everybody picked their play up," Sanders said.

The Wildcats, of course, advanced farther than any other area team with a super-sectional loss, 70-68 to double overtime.

But who could forget:

The three-point shooting of Williams. The Carmel three-point specialist canned more than 80 as the Corsairs reached double digits in wins with 11.

Williams, the 5-8 senior guard from North Chicago, represented the county at the three-point shot competition. He made eight in his first round, finishing second in his group.

"He loved it. He started out slowly in the first rack, one of five, but then had four and three," Coach Scott Rosberg said.

"My assistant coach, Dave Worklan, has said Williams is the best he has seen at the standing jump shot. I've asked Jermaine what his favorite spot on the court is and he said he does not have one."

Williams and Heldman are team captains.

Culotta won the Northwest Suburban Conference and team MVP as Grant won its first league title in six years. Culotta averaged 16 points a game for the Bulldog team which finished with 19 wins and brought back excitement to Fox Lake high school hoops.

Woods, a senior, scored better than 25 points for an Antioch team with a difficult season. Who can forget him scoring 37 of his team's 42 points at one stretch against Stevenson? He can play defense, too, holding Mundelein's Kyle Kessel to 15 points in one game.

As anyone with teams left in the office NCAA basketball pool knows, depth is an important factor.

Scott Ellenwood's three-point shooting and consistent play for the winning tradition at Round Lake earns him a spot.

Dave Gardner, a 6-4 senior center, wowed the North Chicago fans with dunks.

Mark Leginski had one of several last-second buzzer beaters (Eric Peterson of Johnsburg, Mandralla of Grayslake were among the others) and he earns a spot representing second-place NSC Warren.

Senior Rob Grisamore helped led the Lake Zurich Bears to a 16-win season.

Honorable mention, sitting at the end of the bench waiting for foul trouble from our heroes or an injury or two (but that does not happen on a fantasy team, right?) are Todd Freund of Johnsburg; Ryan Taylor of Warren; Byron Johnson of Wauconda and Aaron Yazzie of Round Lake.

A farewell to 1992-93, the year of the metal detector at Stevenson High and the season we did not make it three straight to Champaign. No one asked, but the super-sectional record slips to 2-4...It's too bad only 10,000 and change saw the King fourth quarter against Rockford Guilford. The 32-2 run sent the VCRs humming...When Warren Coach Darrel Bader and his assistants and players-of-the-game winners attended a radio station's banquet Tuesday, it was the last act in a 17-year play.

"They have had the recommendation for a couple of weeks, but I was glad we were able to go to the banquet not knowing who the next coach is," Bader said.

Wisconsin driver claims best-of-show accolades

Landry Potter of Genoa City, Wis. captured the Larry's Mobil Service Best Appearing Overall Championship Award at the 16th Annual Babicz Auto Racing Services (BARS) "Let's Go Racing" Motorsports Show.

Potter's late model stock car was tops over a field of 71 entries from 23 various types of motorsports which were represented in the second largest show turnout in history. The show was held at Lakehurst Mall in Waukegan.

The entries were judged by a panel of 12 judges which looked at each entry's appearance, completeness and overall showmanship.

"I have to thank my sponsors and especially my crew," said Potter, who campaigns at Lake Geneva Raceway and was the 1992 late model Rookie of the Year. "The crew really worked hard putting in a lot of long hours to get the car ready."

"This was one of the most successful shows which we've had," said show promoter Mike Babicz. "I have to thank all of the sponsors which helped the show come together. I also wish to thank all of the competitors and their crews for doing such an excellent job preparing these machines to bring here. Quality-wise this is one of the highest shows ever."

Awards, which were sponsored by Lakehurst Mall Merchants Assn., Wilmot Speedway, Lake Geneva Raceway and Great Lakes Dragaway, were presented to the first and second place finishers in 12 divisions. Division I (Formula / Outlaw Minichamps): 1. Jim Chapley, Northbrook; 2. Dave Behnke, Poplar Grove; Division II (Misc. Asphalt): 1. Greg Potter, Genoa City, Wis.-IMCA Modified, 2. Kenn Yance, Kenosha, Wis.-1983 AMC Spirit Road Racer/Drag Car; Division III (Asphalt Late Model): 1. Mark/Tony Bentz, McHenry, Lake Geneva late model, 2. Frank Landry, Milwaukee, Wis./Tim Cox, Park City, ARTGO late model.

Division IV (Wilmot Dirt Sportsman): 1. Bobby John Hensley, Lake Villa, 2. (tie): Robb Shales, Kenosha, Wis. and Call Maule, Antioch; Division V (Go-karts): 1. four month old Joshua Roy and his father, Lonny Roy, of Zion, 2. Jeff Wesell, Milwaukee, Wis.; Division VI (Midgits): 1. Rich Gieritz, Lake Villa (BADGER midgit); 2. Bob Meyers, Glenwood (UMARA midgit)

Division VII (Mini-Modifieds): 1. Jeff Hutchison, Salem, Wis. 2. Roy Morrison, Antioch; Division VIII (Dragsters): 1.

Division X (Misc. dirt): 1. Skip Martin, McHenry (Santa Fe Speedway NASCAR late model), 2. Elmer Everman III, Waukegan (Santa Fe Speedway NASCAR late model); Division XI (winged sprint): 1. Mike Frost, Zion, 2. (tie) Dick Colburn, Muskego, Wis. and Dennis Spitz, Kenosha, Wis.; Division XII (Dirt Modifieds): 1. Donny Goeden, Kewaskum, Wis. (EWSCA 1992 Sheboygan County Speedway Champion), 2. Jimmy Uttech Jr., Kenosha, Wis. (Wilmot Speedway/Modified Racing Assc.)

Special recognition awards were presented to Lakehurst Mall, Wilmot

Katina Grubb of Wadsworth, Motorsports Show Queen, along with Race Stopper Girls Amanda and Marlene of Menomonee Falls, Wis., along with Sweeney and Babicz made the awards presentations.

In a model car contest held in conjunction with the show on Saturday afternoon sponsored by Hobbytown of McHenry, nine year old Chaz Martin of McHenry swept the junior division taking all three trophies. In the senior division, Kenn Yance of Kenosha placed first with C.W. Martin of McHenry second and third.

A total of 180 Cub Scouts competed in the annual Oakarro District Pinewood Derby which was held from 10 a.m. Saturday until 3 p.m. Sweeney served as official starter. Various drivers including Shales, Spitz, Yance, Jeff Ferkin, Paul Ptasienski, Landry Potter, Tony Bentz, car owner/builder Len Ostrowski Sr. and the Race Stopper Girls assisted as derby officials Babicz, the "voice of Wilmot Speedway" and host of "Let's Go Racing" radio show on WKRS 1220 AM in Lake County, served as derby announcer.

Skarvce, Cox continue careers

Two Antioch Community High School graduates are softball players this spring at MacMurray College.

The 1993 Mac Murray Lady Highlanders will be very experienced with 14 returnees, eight as juniors or seniors.

"We have made some great strides over the past several years," third-year Coach Sondi Creglow said.

Cox is the daughter of John and Chris Cox of Antioch. Skarvce is the daughter of Fred and Claudette Skarvce of Antioch.

On baseball squad

Steve Phipps, head baseball coach at Central Methodist College, has announced that Dennis Grube is a member of the Eagles baseball team. Grube, a junior, is the son of Mr. and Mrs. Dennis Grube of Grayslake. Central Methodist is located in Fayette, MO.

Olympic hero is businessman

Students in Juan Moreno's class were not breaking boards or other fancy move on Monday.

Instead, the group of white belts were learning the basics of Tae-Kwon-Do and the proper way of introducing one's self to angles to be used in foot placement.

For Moreno, of Zion, the class in Gurnee represents a transition. For years, Moreno was competing for himself and reached top of success. In fact, he is a two-time silver Olympic medalist. He is advertised on the sign at Gurnee Business Center Studio.

"This is the easy part. Teaching people what I learned," he said.

tie like the rest of the crowd, was second in Barcelona in 1992 and Seoul in 1988.

"The first time was great. I had an unbelievable time. In 1992, it was my second time and I knew what to expect," he added.

In order to qualify for the designated weight class, he went without food for about a week.

Moreno, the businessman, is running the operation with the help of his brother, Carlos. The business opened earlier this month.

The two offer a free trial lesson, then one may opt to be placed in a class.

"Most martial arts schools are limited in what they teach. I will emphasize more nutrition and health," Juan said.

He will also work on the mental aspect of Tae-Kwon-Do.

"It is very individual; it is a lot about building self-confidence and increased personal power," Juan said.

During Olympic and other bouts, it would be Carlos who scouts the way other countries approach Tae-Kwon-Do.

"I am constantly leaning," Juan said, as he continues to undergo teaching methods.

"Moreno has been to Korea, learning from the best.

He would like to see the various Tae-Kwon-Do schools in Lake County unite. "I would like to form an alliance," he ended.

Master Nak Sung Song began his training in 1959, Seoul, Korea, where he studied Tae Kwon Do & Kung Fu. In 1971 he was appointed to train the Korean Republic marines until 1972, when he was sent to a mountain school to continue his philosophical and martial arts training. In 1974 Master Song came to the U.S. and has lived in Antioch, IL for 19 years. Master Song has taught martial arts in Antioch and Mundelein for 17 years, and has now opened a new location in Grayslake, to offer the education of the martial arts.

CLC softball squad faces tough tests in trip, league

The College of Lake County has one of the nicest gymnasiums around. Just ask any Lancer basketball player or anyone who has "shot around" during halftime.

But for simulating natural grass, a "Lancer Bubble" it is not. So like the baseball team, the softball team also figures to be behind its competition experience-wise when it heads to the Valley of the Sun this week.

"Defensively, you can do a great deal done," CLC Coach Sue Garcia said. "But hitting-wise, you can bunt and slap, but it is hard to tell in a batting cage," Garcia said.

The Lancers will be going up against six different teams for 12 games in the Phoenix area.

Four all-Skyway Conference starters are back from a Lancer squad which tied McHenry for the title.

Eileen Van Heirseele, a

Carmel grad, is back at third base and hit better than .350 last year.

Sharon Allen is back in familiar center-field and an unfamiliar role.

"Sharon will pitch for us this year. With the number of freshman pitchers we have, we needed to have someone step up. She has a great overhand throw," Garcia said.

Robin Horton, who helped Antioch win a regional title last year and Michelle Gamble, of Waukegan, are the pitching newcomers.

Jenny Hagen is back as a catcher and Kiki Johnson, from Grant, is back at second base.

"She will be in charge. She did not call pitches in high school, but got better as the year went on," Garcia said. She is one of several of the Antioch Connection.

Johnson, meanwhile, is

"quicker than last year and she has been swinging a better bat," Garcia said.

Shortstop is up-for-grabs between Amy Drinan, a Round Lake graduate who has good range and Jessica Conti. Conti attended Alma, Wis. college last year before attending CLC and she played basketball at CLC this winter. "Both will get a chance in Arizona," Garcia said.

Kelly Damron, an Antioch grad who attended Western Illinois last year, is in left, Lake Forest grad Amy Sowka, a sophomore and Michelle Olson, a Round Lake standout, are expected to round out the outfield.

The Lancers found no friend in the conference schedule-maker. CLC is at Oakton April 6, Waukegan April 7 and McHenry April 8. All three dates are double-headers.

Mundelein plans to spread experience around at meet

Mundelein will be taking a little different approach when it comes to the Lake Park invite March 26.

"Conant, Wheaton North and Rolling Meadows will be there, but we feel Hinsdale Central was the state-meet type meet, so we will give a lot of juniors who have not yet competed some experience," Mundelein Coach Doug Foerch said.

The Mustangs had 153.25 points, while Libertyville earned runner-up honors with 142.3 at Hinsdale Central's Red Devil meet.

Jon Wasik led the Mustangs' effort, winning the all-around with a 9.12 average. "That was his best meet since the state meet," Foerch said. He hit on all six events.

Wasik won the high bar (9.3), parallel bars (9.2) and vault (9.1). Ray Gardecki took a second in the still rings. "He does not compete in all events, but in the four events he does compete, he does well," Foerch said.

Jamie Loizeaux earned two six-places for MHS.

Libertyville Coach Paul Blasko was pleased with his team's second-place showing. Senior Chris Wedig had a 7.78 average; sophomore Mike Mirabelli had an 8.08 and Adam Kahn also performed well. "Those three have pretty much been our strong points this year," Blasko said. "We been looking good in practice and improving, but we should do even better after spring break," Blasko said.

March 24 battle between Mundelein and Libertyville.

"The kids always look forward to competing against Mundelein because of its level of talent," Blasko said.
